Listening, I wait
for a peal of laughter to let you in.

— Cathy McNally

My life seems to be a kind of testing ground for a person who will Someday emerge from under all of these uncertainties and disillusionments.

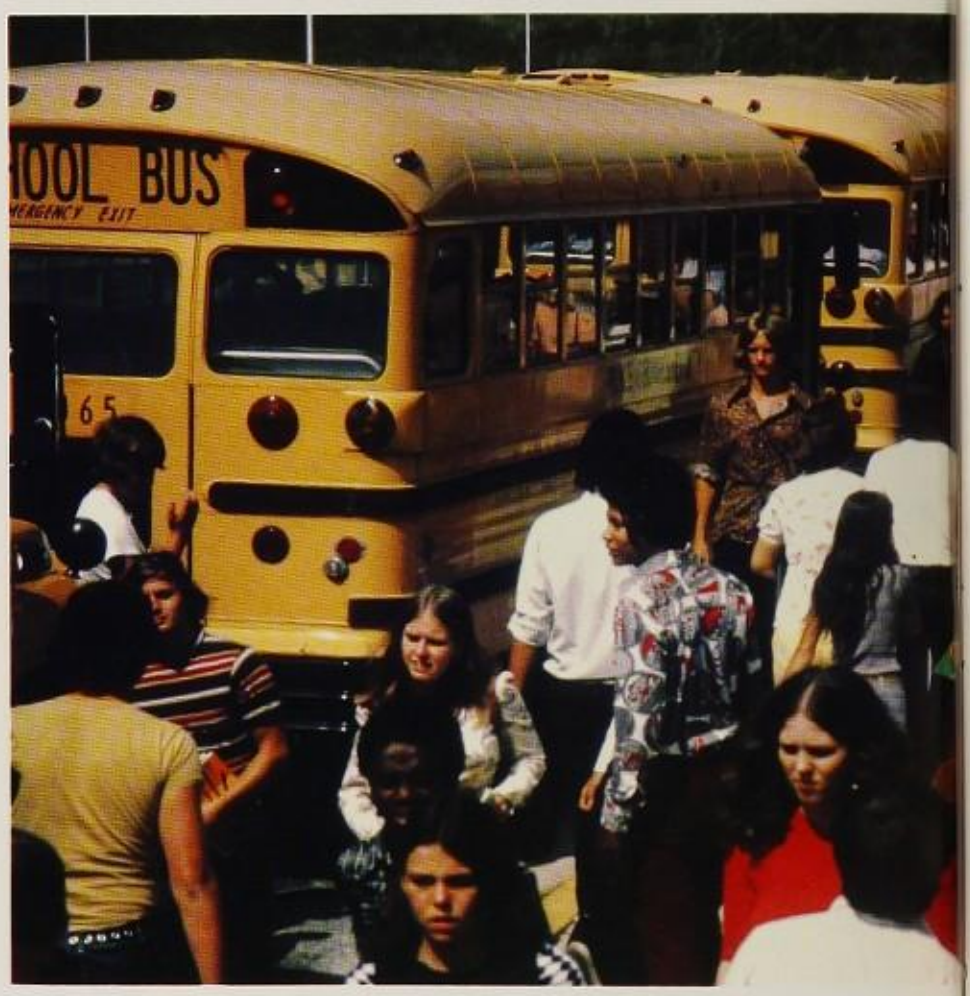
— Anne Ricciuti

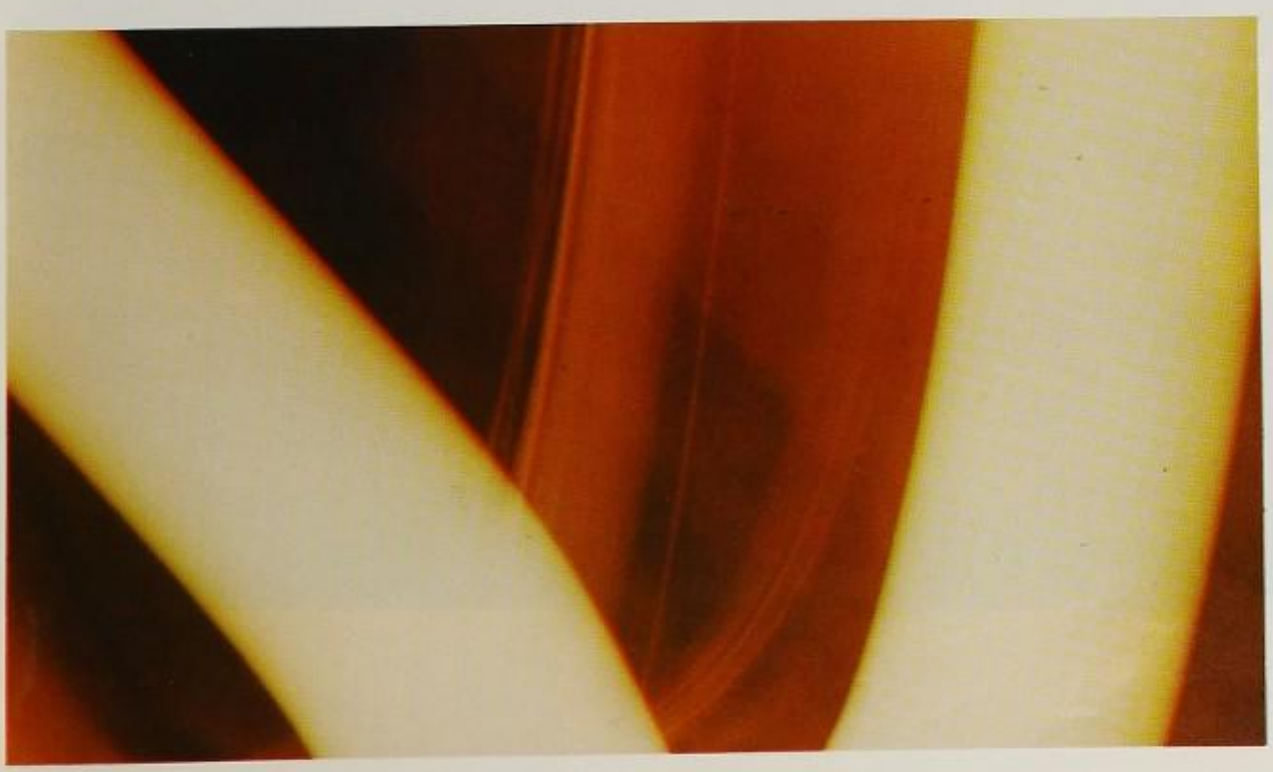
CASH REGISTER

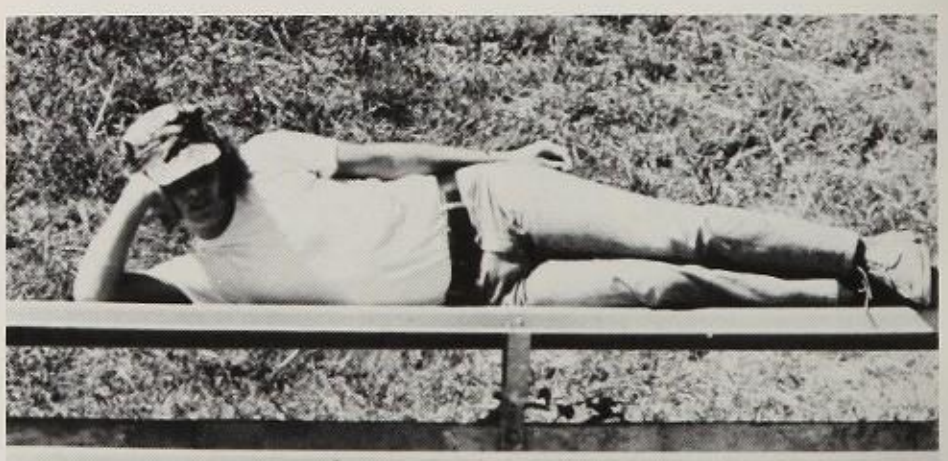
Time tolling away
Minutes leaving
Before I had a chance to find them
Monotonous tolling of bells
Ringing in and ringing out
Will the hours ever stop?
Will they ever slow down?
Will time stand still
So I can taste it and savor it?
This is the last year of high school
I don't want to grow up
For how many times will I remember
When I'm older . . .

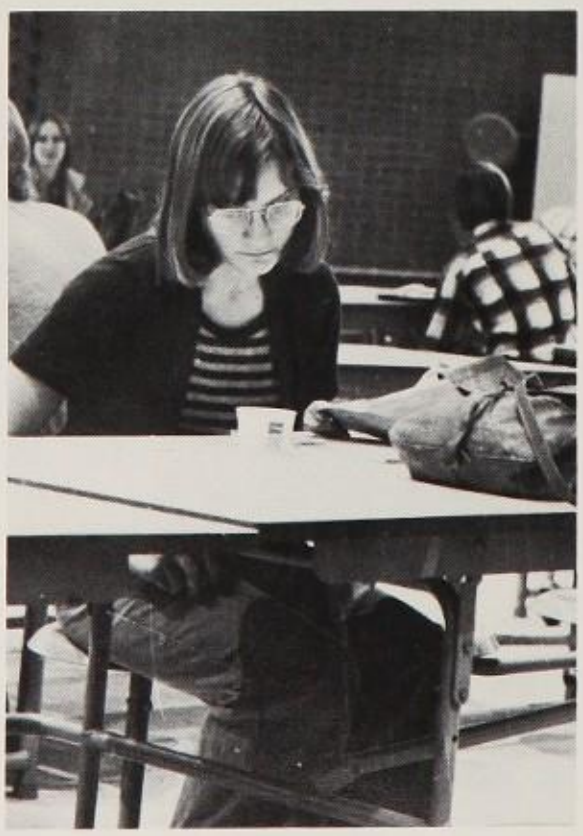
— Sharon Lanham

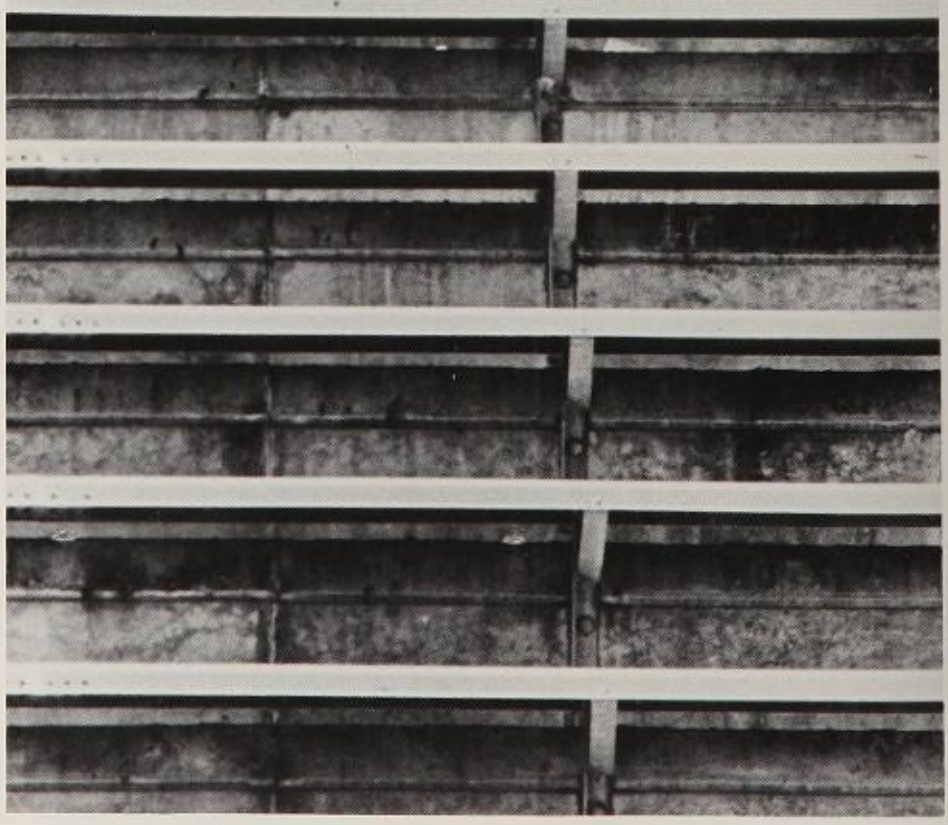


BUS



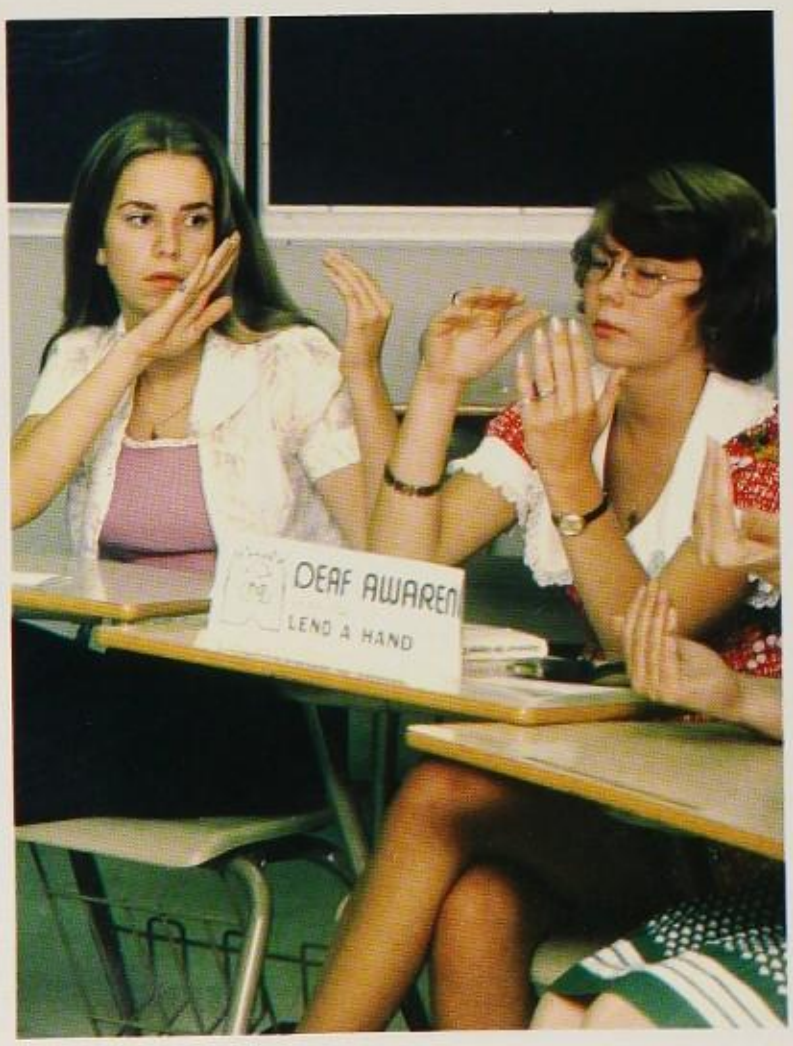






Me —
Trying hard to stay that way
Being influenced by you
And them
And wanting very much to retain
My oneness . . .

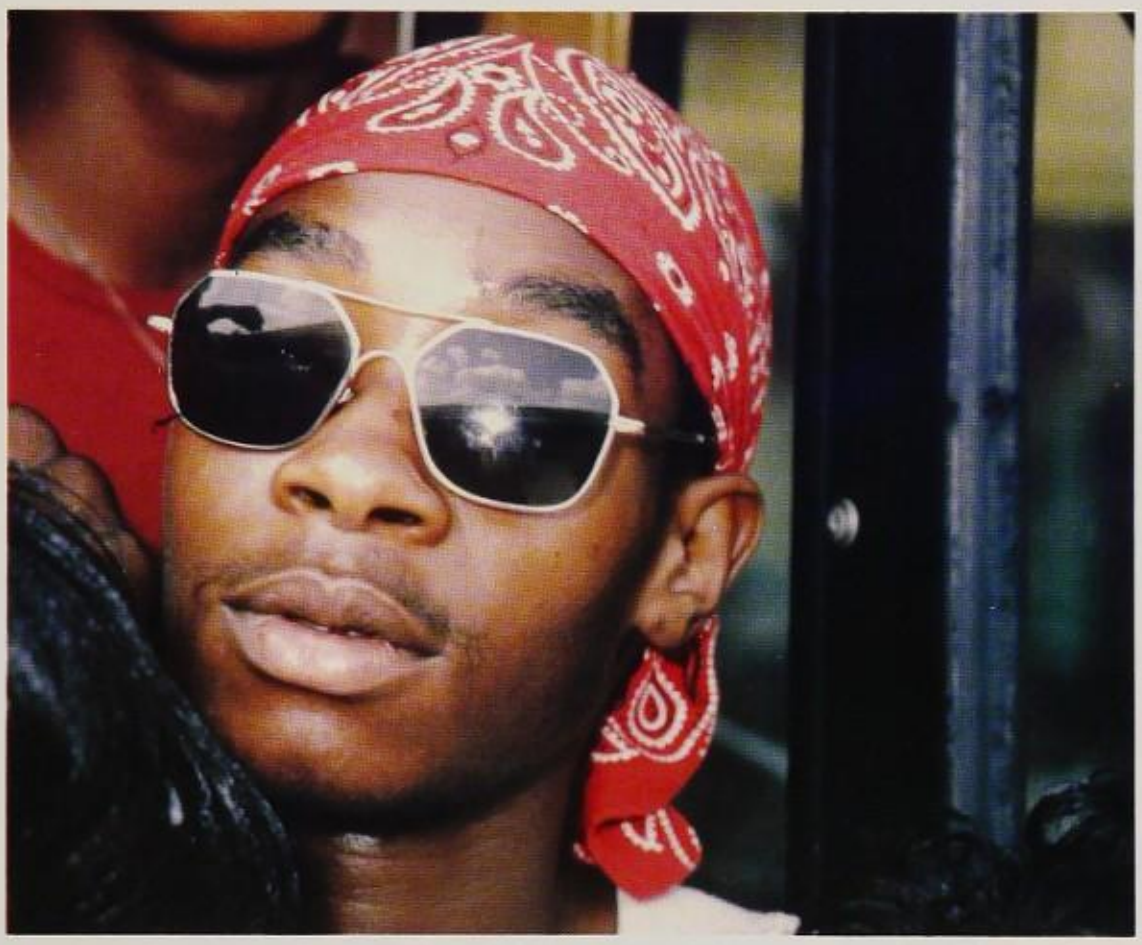
— Merope Pavlides

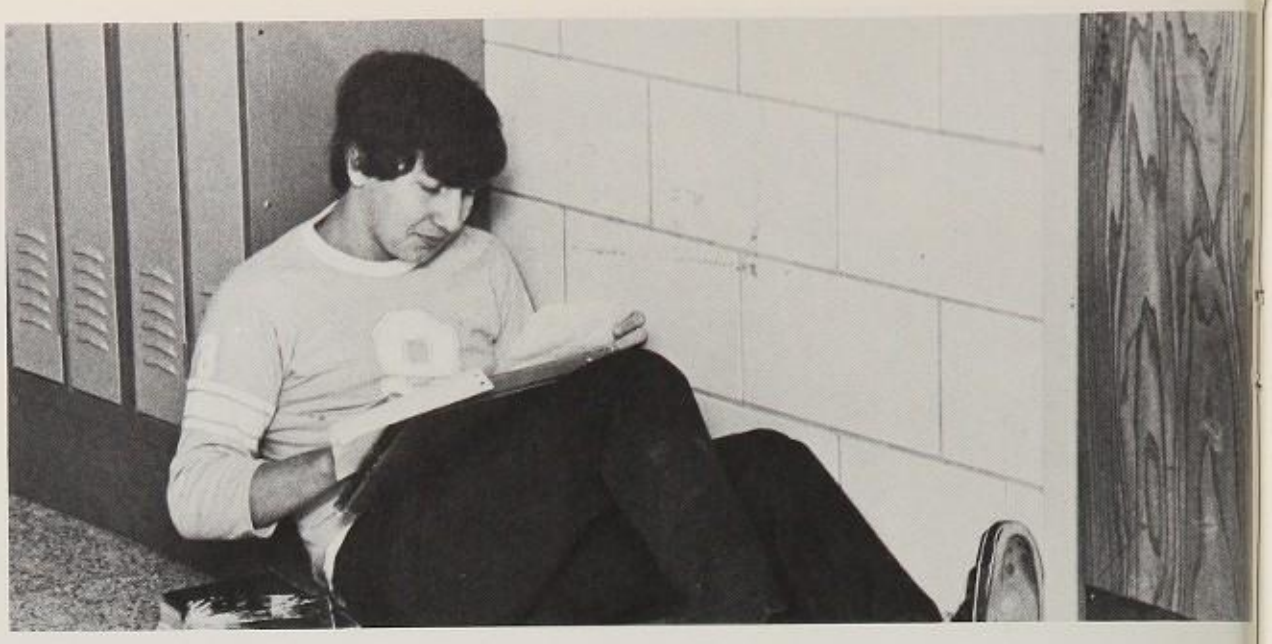


DEAF AWAREN
LEND A HAND

So many things to do but nowhere to start. I thought I'd lived through everything but I'm just beginning

— Anne Riccluti





WILL THE TENSION
(oh what should
I say or do
and oh no
What will they think of me)
EVER LEAVE US?

— Anne Ricciuti

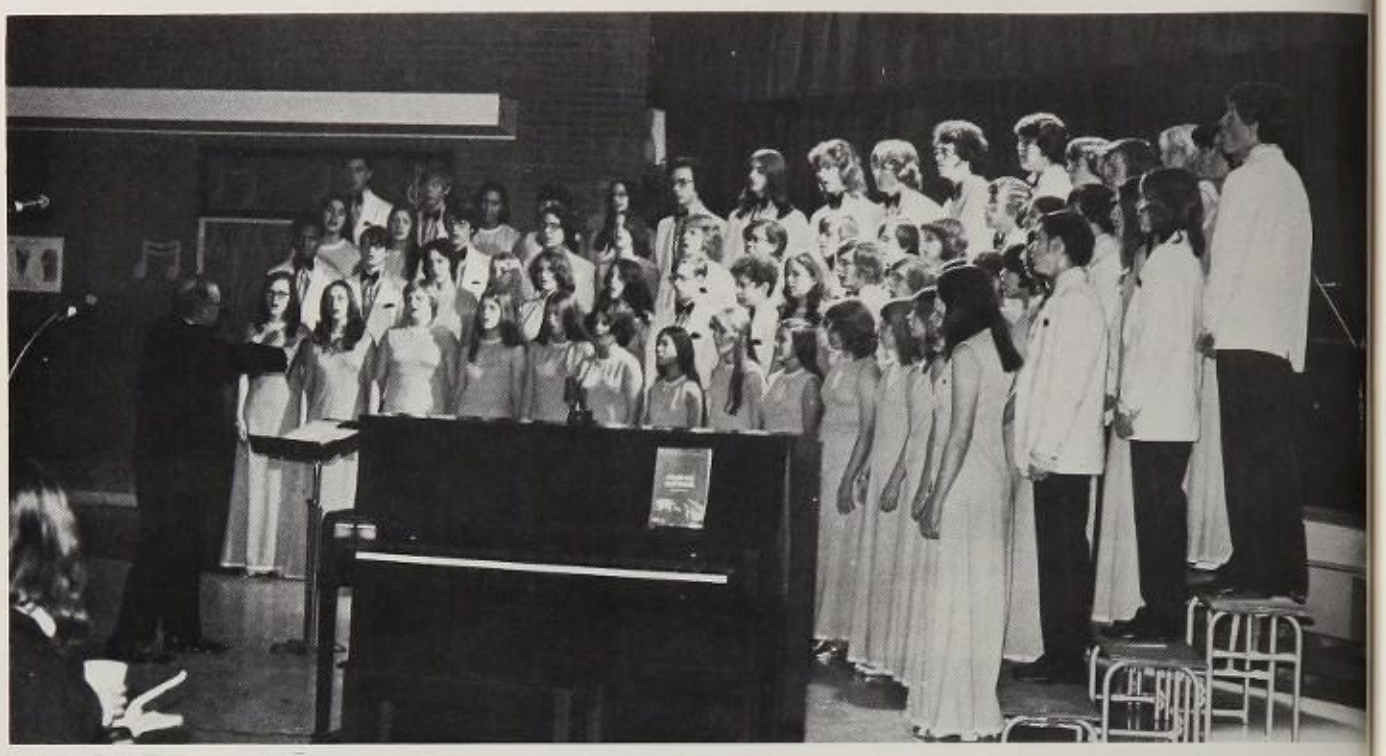
The winning competitors of Dress-Up Day pose for a quick pic.

CHORAL CONCERTS



Concert Choir strives for the best of blended harmony.

We hope you enjoy our next selection as much as we enjoy singing it for you.

The Handbell Choir performs in numerous concerts, such as the presentation at Awards Night.

Mr. Nonnemacher tries energetically to calm his group to serious singing.

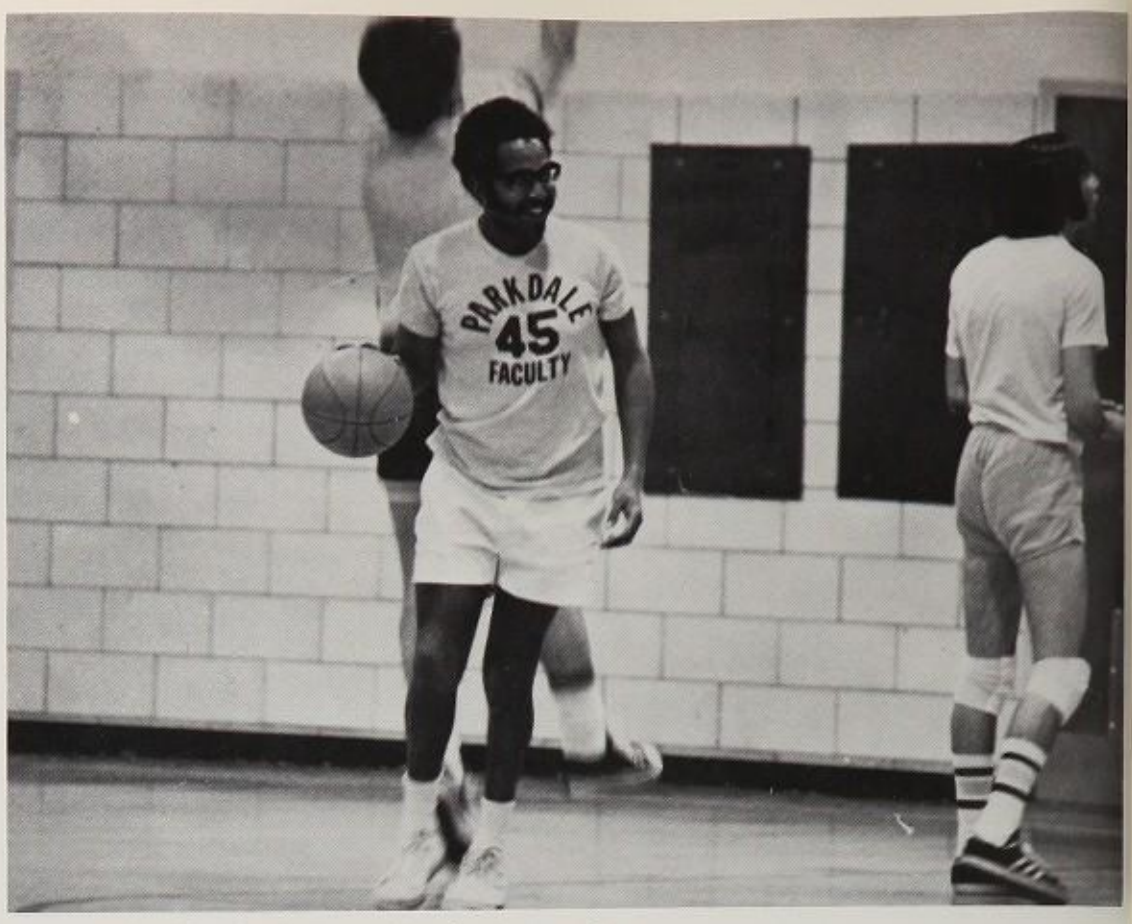
The Choralettes march into the spot light for the audience.

It's a long wait before we go on . . .

Manning the spotlights can become a tedious job.

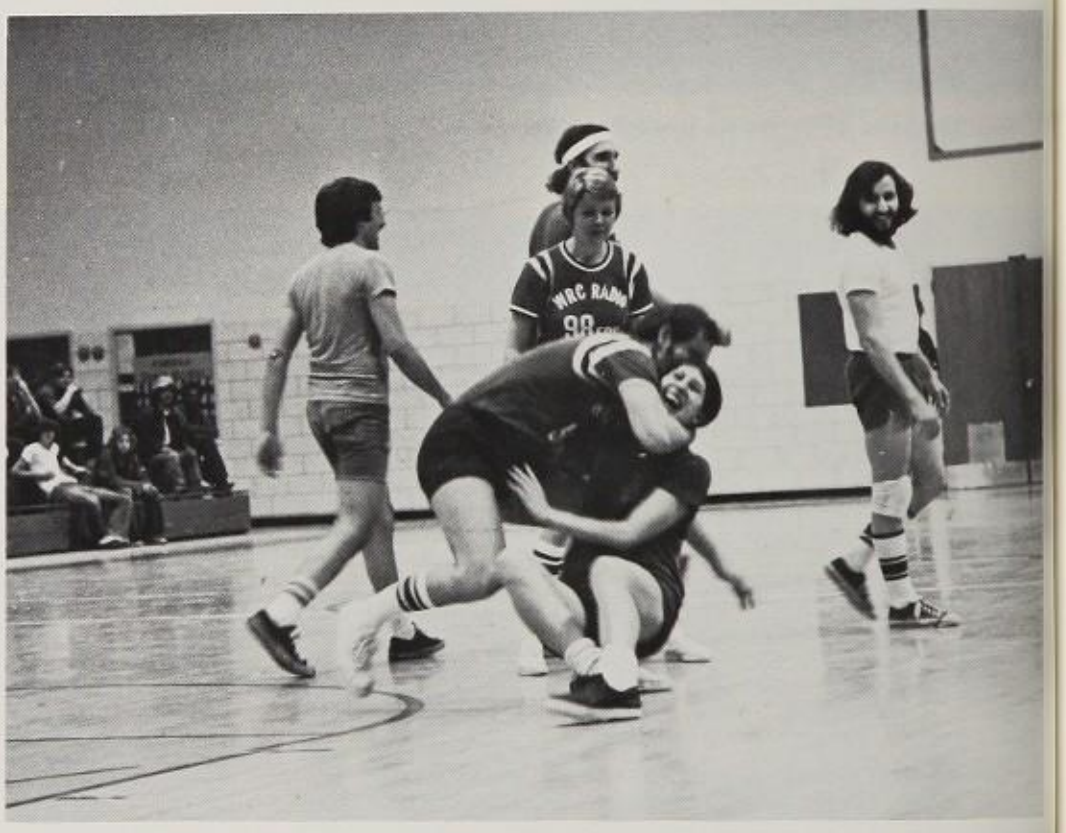
people on the stage never smile . . . or do they?"

WRC VS FACULTY GAME

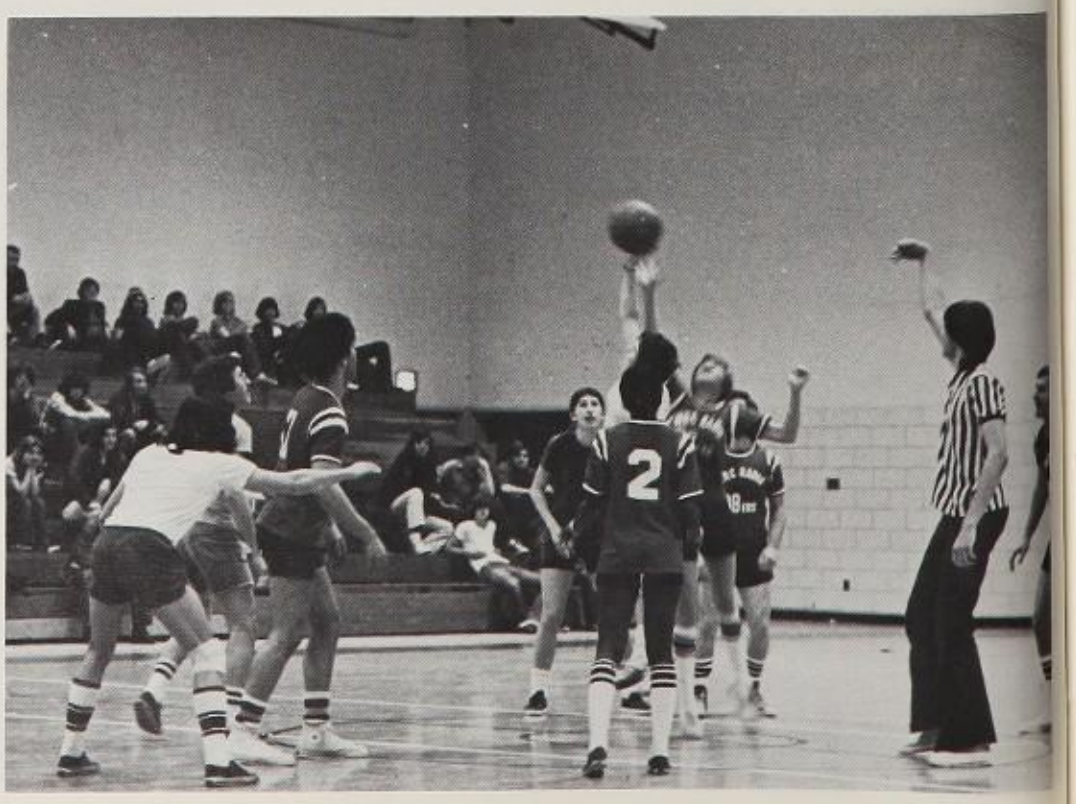


Mr. Lane is ready for the challenges he's about to experience.

All right team, we've got it together!



There's no escaping a foul made like this one.

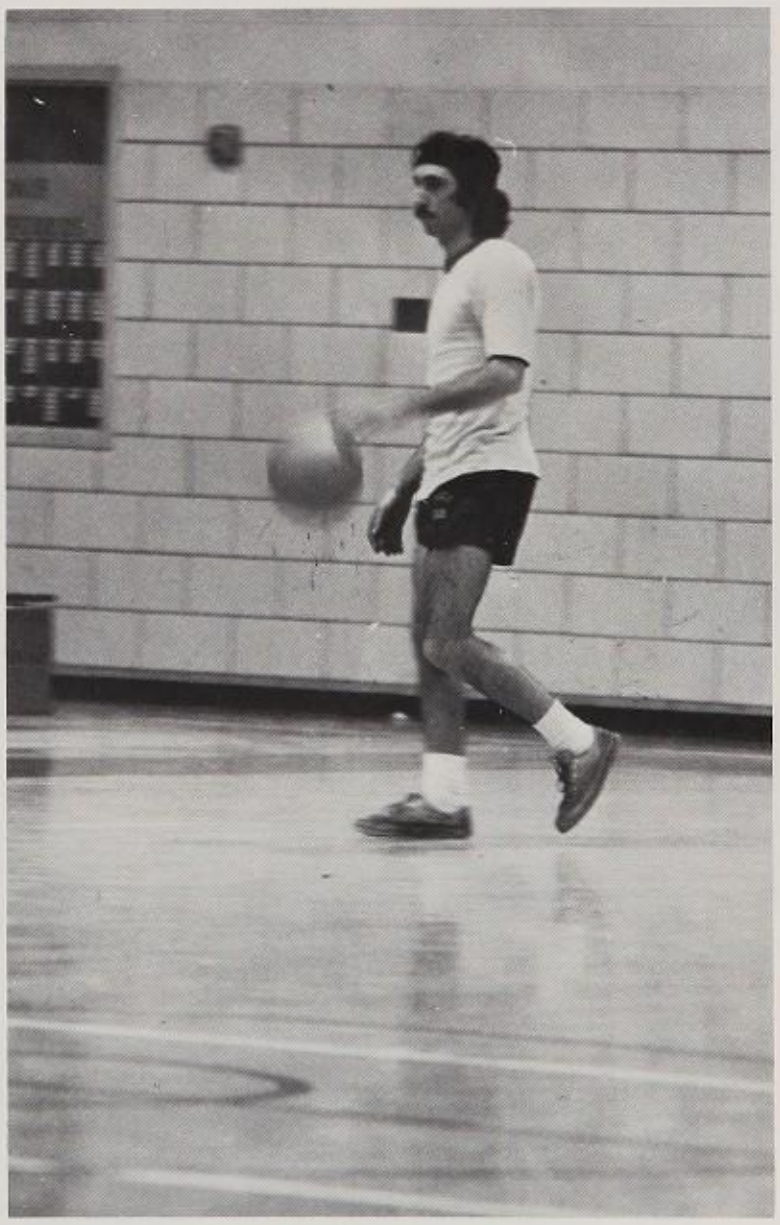


A jump start initiates the game into its play.

Was that you who just tripped me?

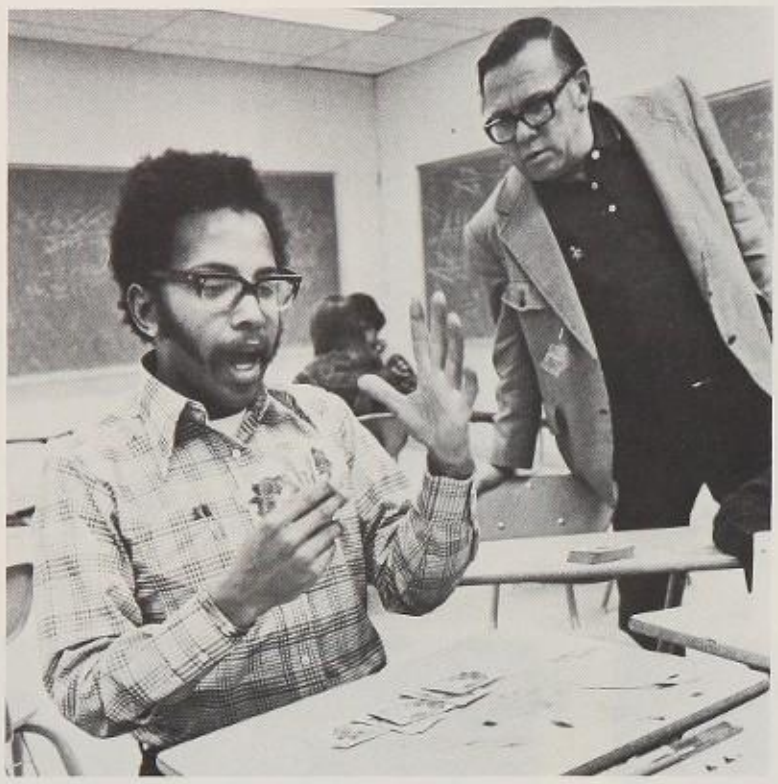
A frenzied shot by Parkdale's faculty upsets the WRC players.

Tentative fans are drawn into suspicion as Parkdale trails behind in the score.



O.K., who's the wise guy that greased this ball?

FREE-FORM DAY

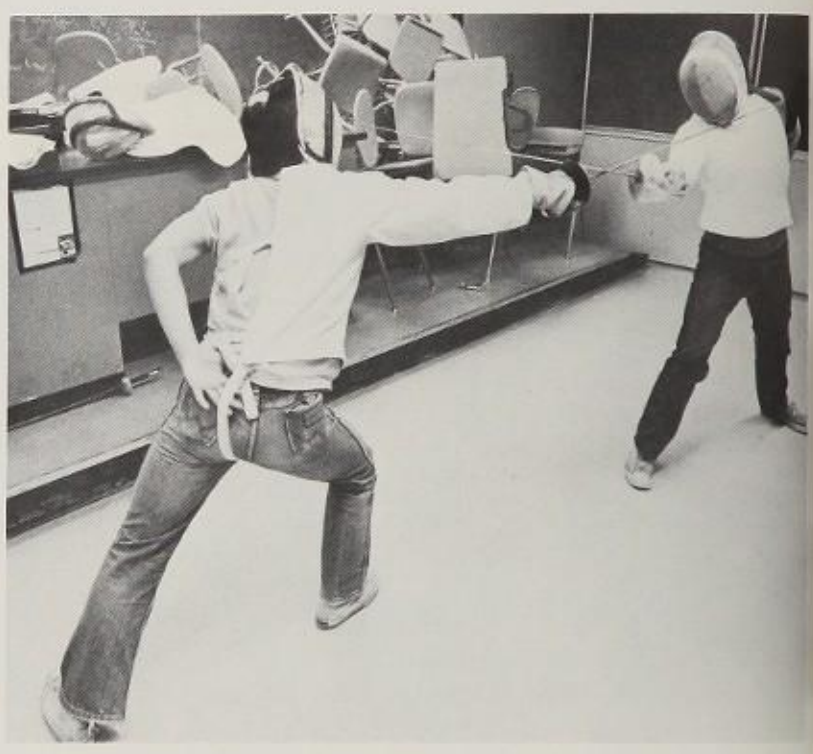


Ah! The hand that I've been waiting for!

Notice the flexible and convenient tail on this next model . . .

Breakfast at McNelis' beats breakfast at McDonalds.

Free Form Day turned out to be an experience for many participants.



The point of the game may be found painfully.

Donna Dambrauskas demonstrates her ability to cook foreign food.

Mr. Prince explains to his listeners that there is an engine in the car . . . somewhere!

Put lots and lots of cheese on top . . . "that's Italian!"

Both Mr. Maas and his competitor are stumped as to the object of the game.

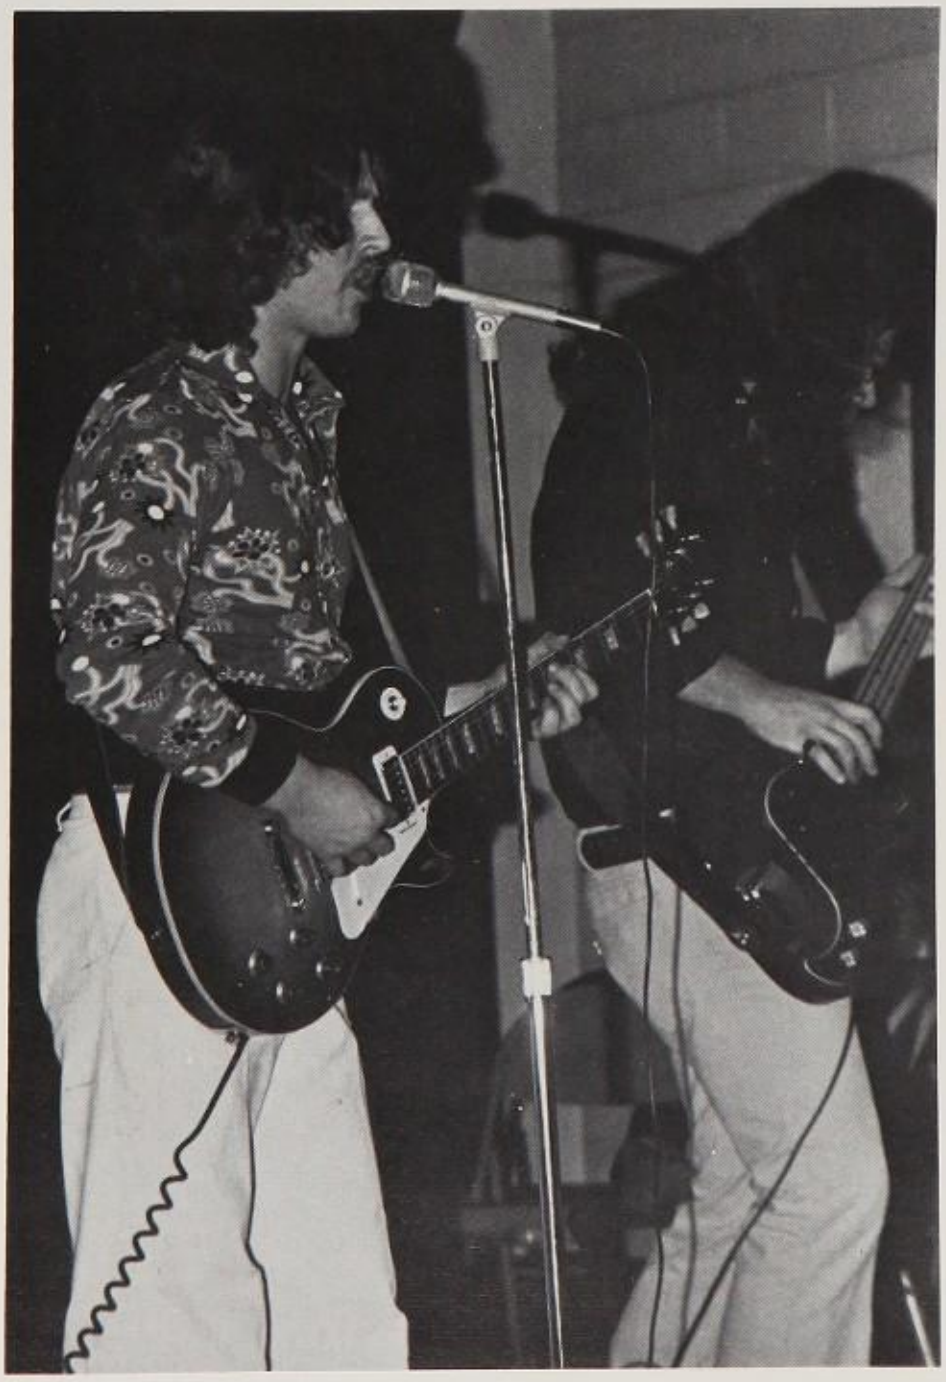
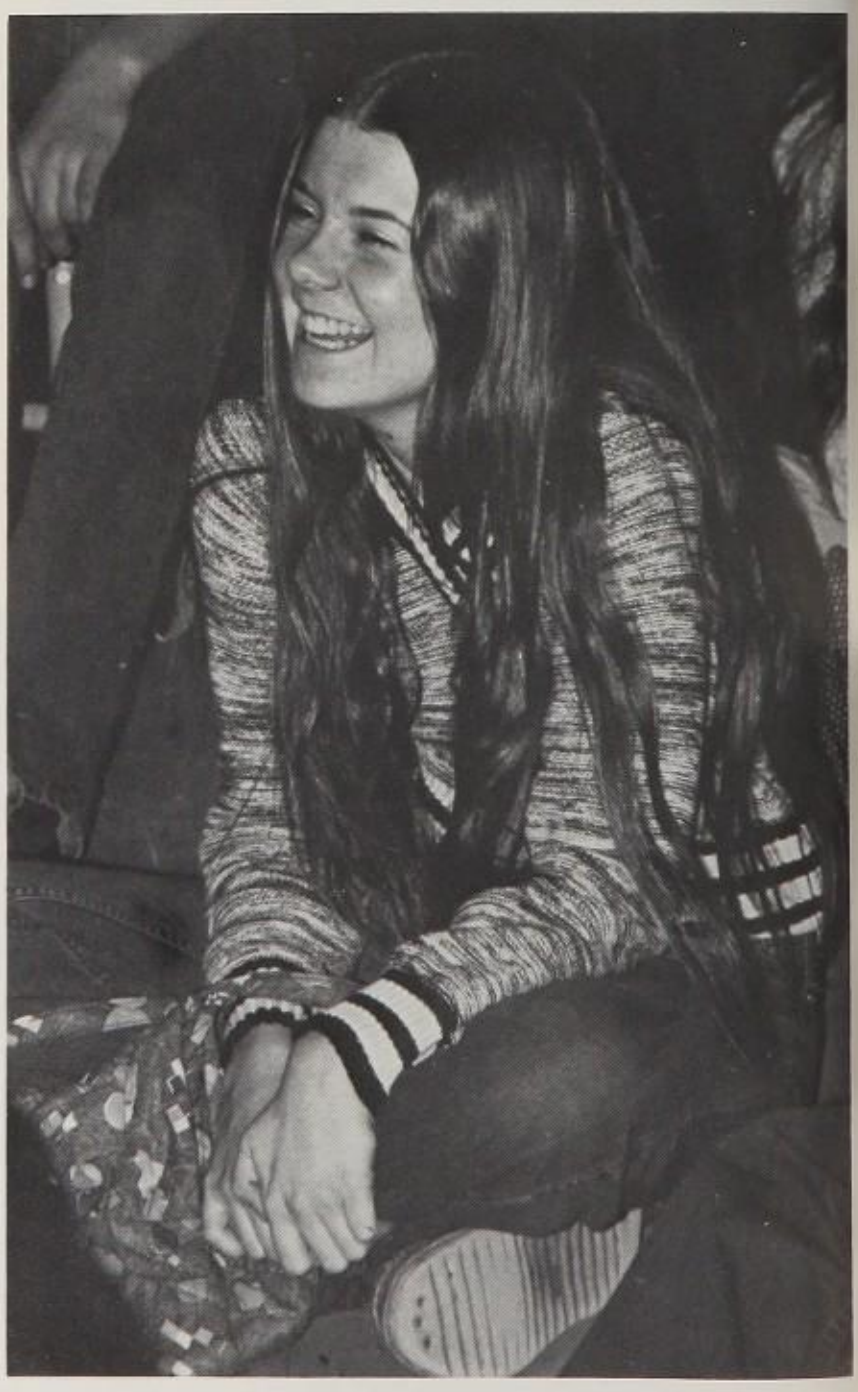
SGA CONCERT

A captive audience enjoys the beats of Stone Granite.

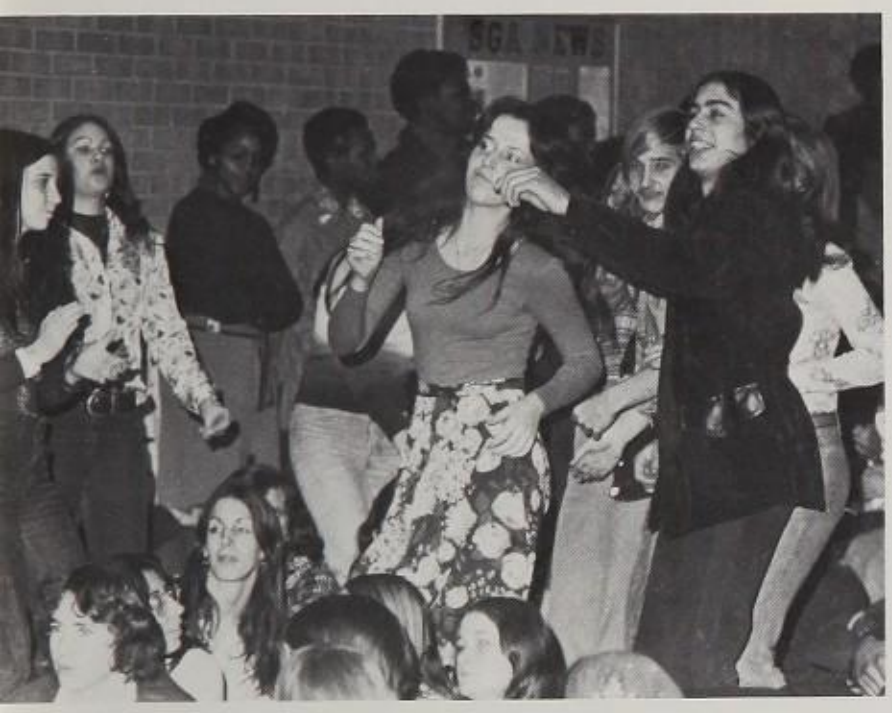


Make your own kind of music.



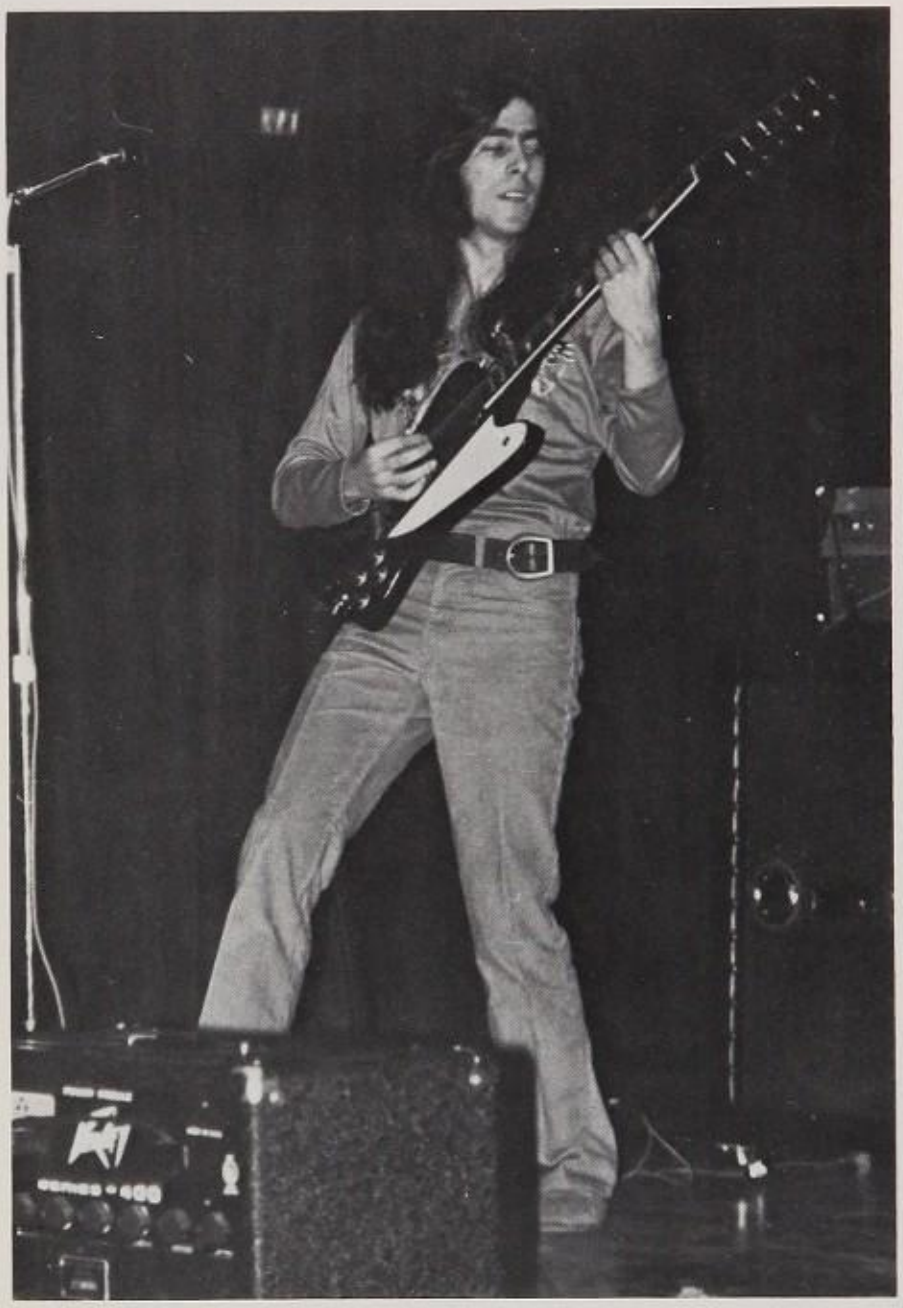
The great performance is appreciated as smiles of mirth are shown.

I think it's strawberry flavored.



Let's boogie!!!

She couldn't believe a guitarist was THAT good!



Oops! I caught my fingers underneath the strings.

SR. CLASS PLAY

David Olson pretends to be a possum and proceeds to play dead.

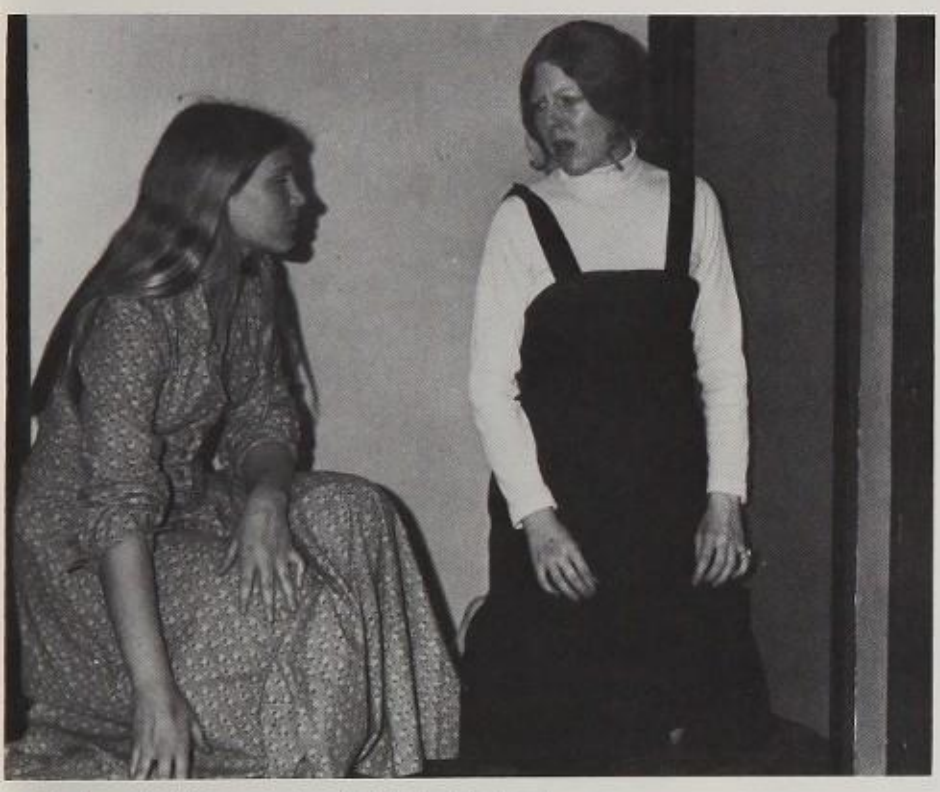
You! You evil imp! Don't EVER use my lipstick again!

I saw the most horrendous thing running out of this house! (David Olson, Liz Brown)

Barbara Gregory acts as if everything in the play could never have been so hectic.

IMAGINARY INVALID

PLEASE . . . this is the last chance my father is allowing me to ask you. (Colleen Brant, Sam Polack)



I've heard of being sneaky, but this is ridiculous!

And this fine young gentleman . . . is my son. (David Olson, Bill Beiber, Sam Polack)

Don't make me say it, father . . . I promised not to tell. (Georgette Dounis)

FASHION SHOW

Jean Beagle acts as an MC for the fashion show.

It was live entertainment all the way!

A stunning dress in blue shows off HER talents for sewing.

Many different types of fashion were exhibited by the young ladies.

RIGHT: Escorting a model seems to be a frightening experience . . .

Terry Keeney shows signs of ecstasy as she walks down the stage.

"He ain't nothing but a hound dog . . ."

A charming model catches the audience in rapture.

And here they come!
LEFT: I'll show you who can cook!

AWARDS NIGHT

A happy face appears as Gretchen Merkle accepts an art award from Mr. Harden.

Hmmm . . . is this the award I'm suppose to give her? (Mr. Antonelli, Laura Collins)

Recognition for the students' achievements is deemed valuable by the administration.

An honorable trophy awaits its recipient.

Congratulations to Jean Beagle for one of her many awards.

James Tillman is awarded by the Riverdale Lions Club.

One of the recipients for Boys' State, Arthur Appleton.

A delighted and content Sharon Miller.

Catching a nap during a break between dances . . .

And everyone got into the swing of things.

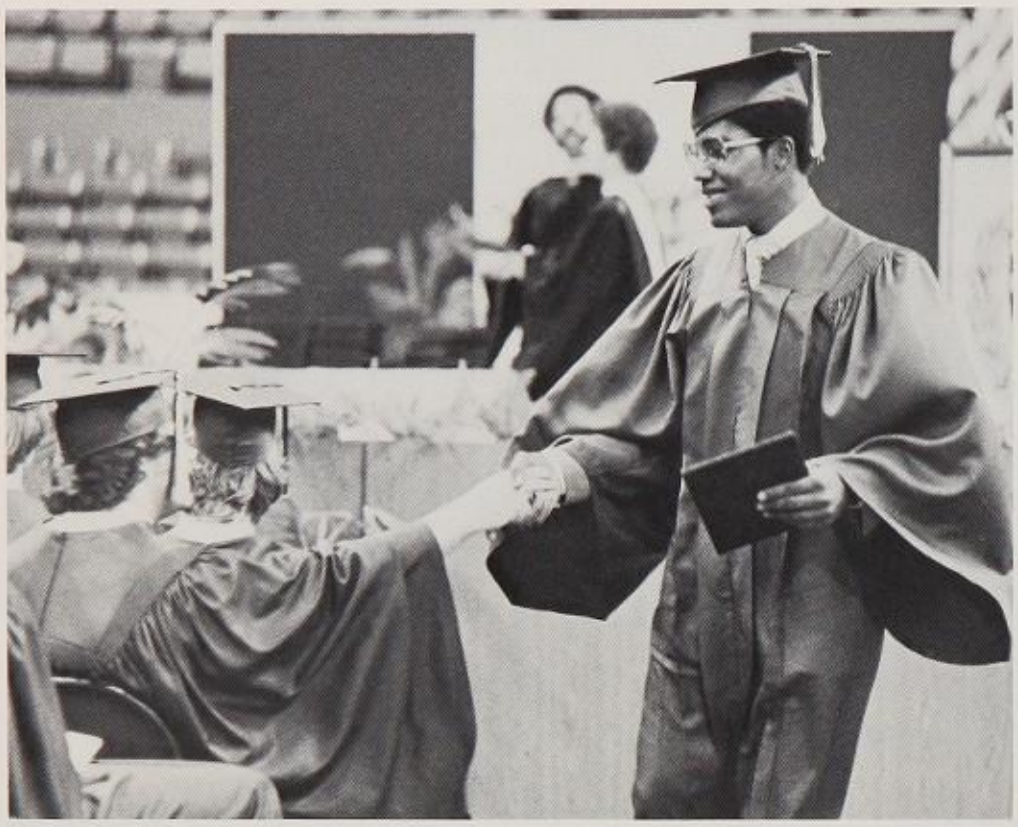
Don't tell her that I'm not going to finish my salad.

Sally McCarl and Kevin Shaughnessy relax to the soft sounds of Fancy Colours.

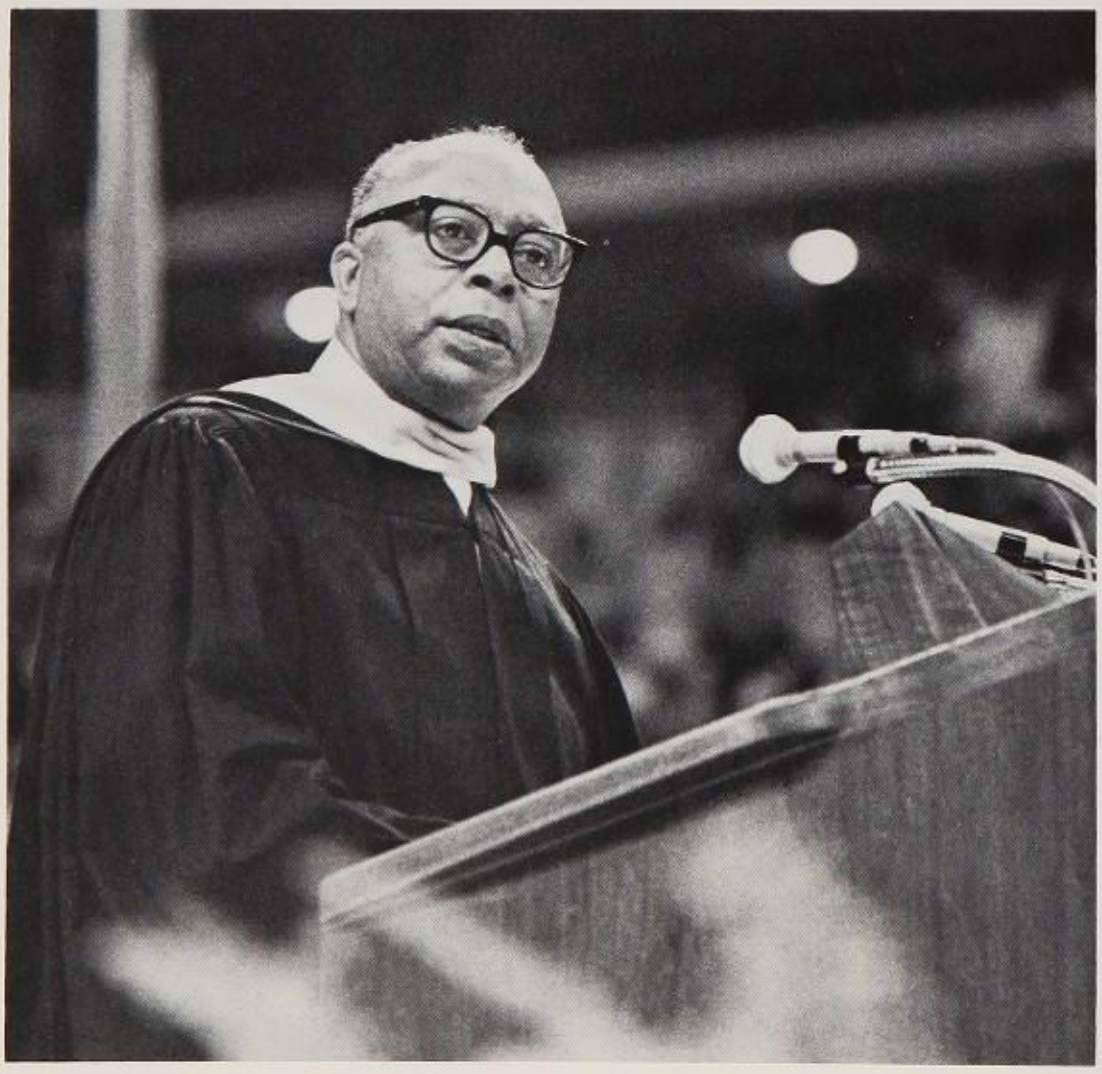
The menu becomes a straining headache for Karen Goldstein.

Now, if I could use a buzz saw instead . . .

GRADUATION



Congrats, congrats!!



"There's more to the future than meets the eye."

A moment of enchantment is displayed by Sherlita Queen.

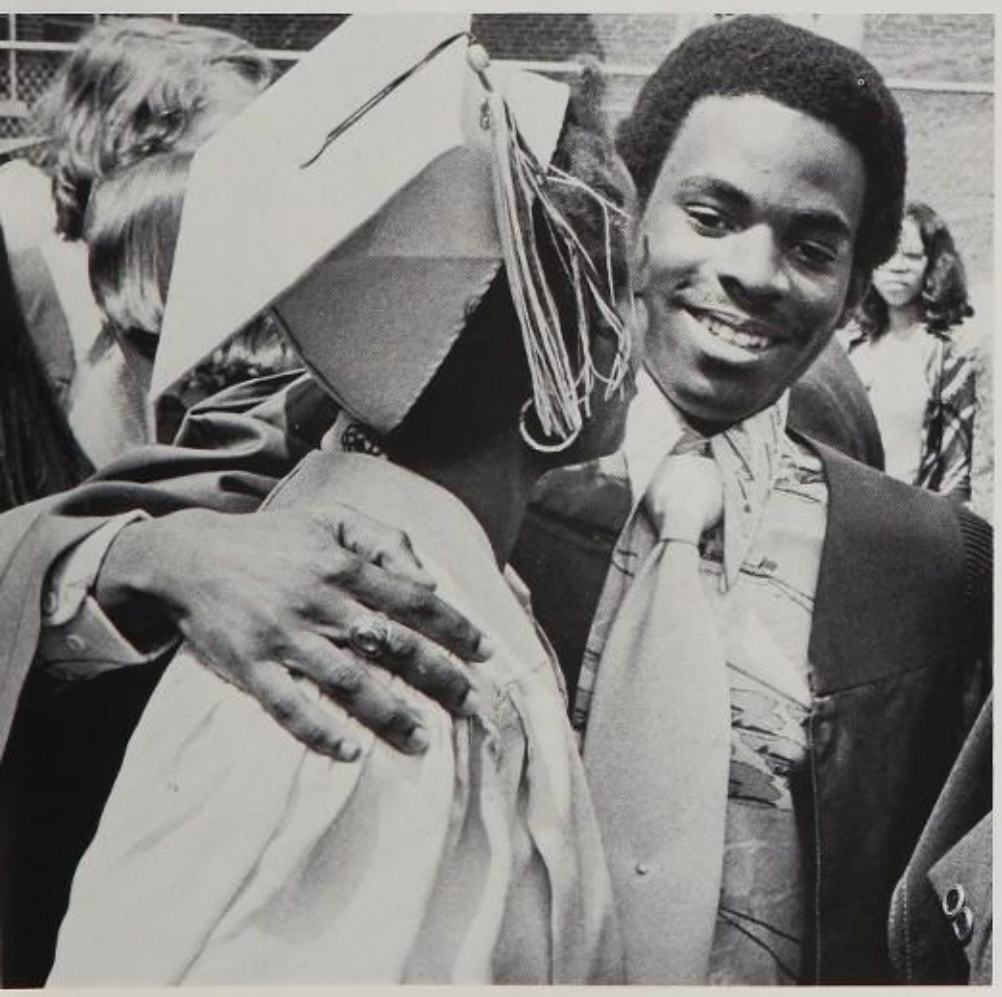
Joan and Joanna Lewis can't decide which way the cap looks better on them.

So this is what graduation was all about.

"There's a big vacuum out there Seniors — we've yet to expand!" (Terri Fernandez)

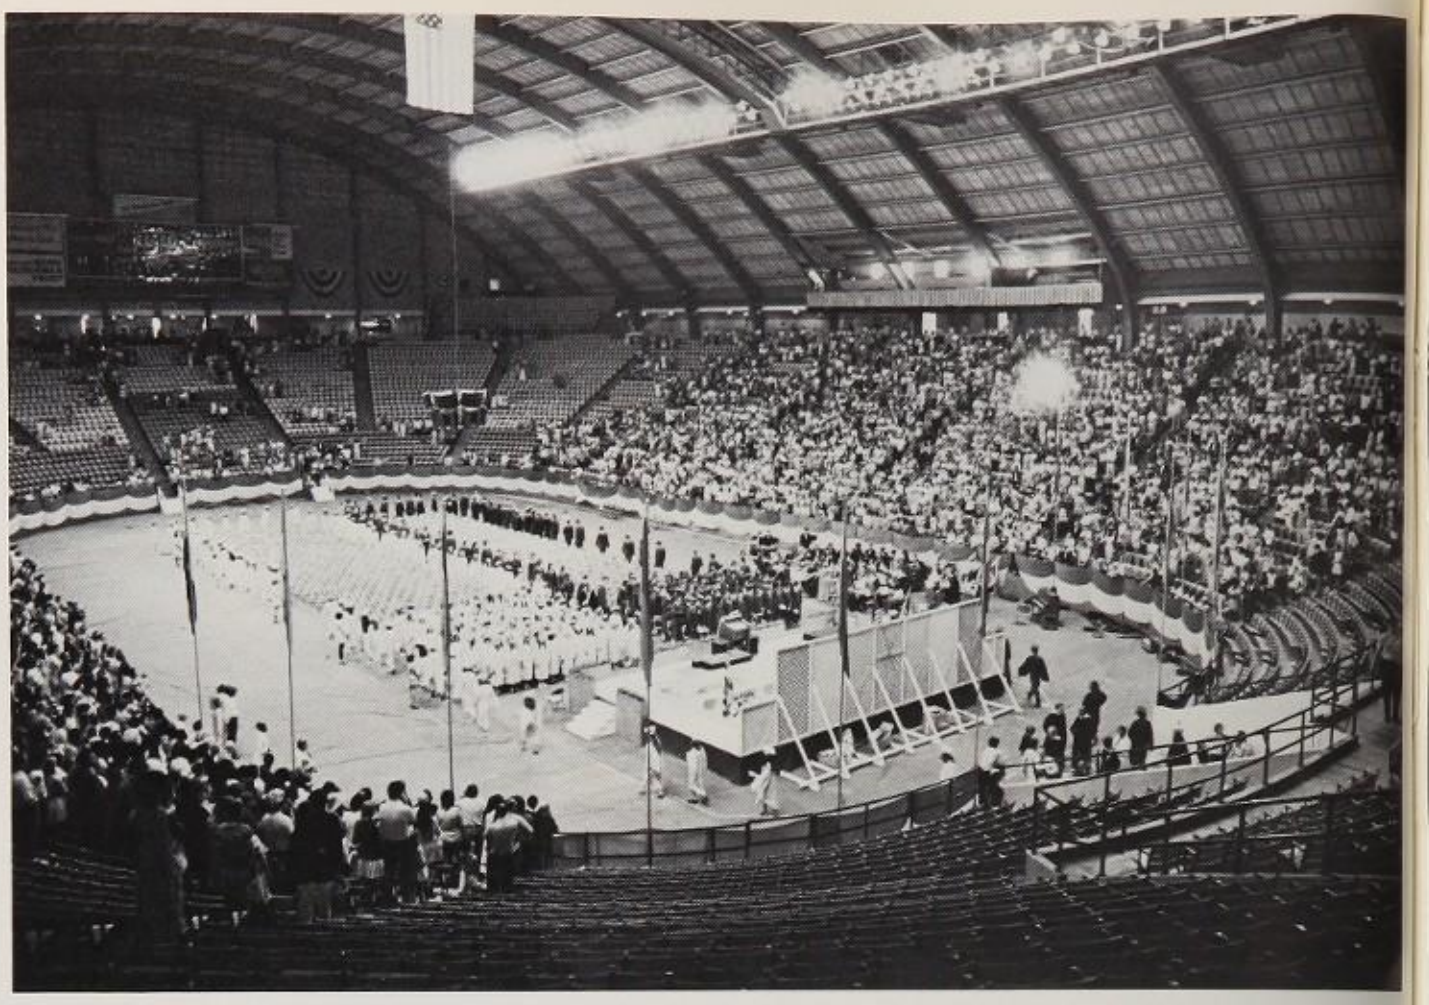
A well deserved applause for the graduating Class of '75.

She couldn't have been happier . . . (Gretchen Merkle)



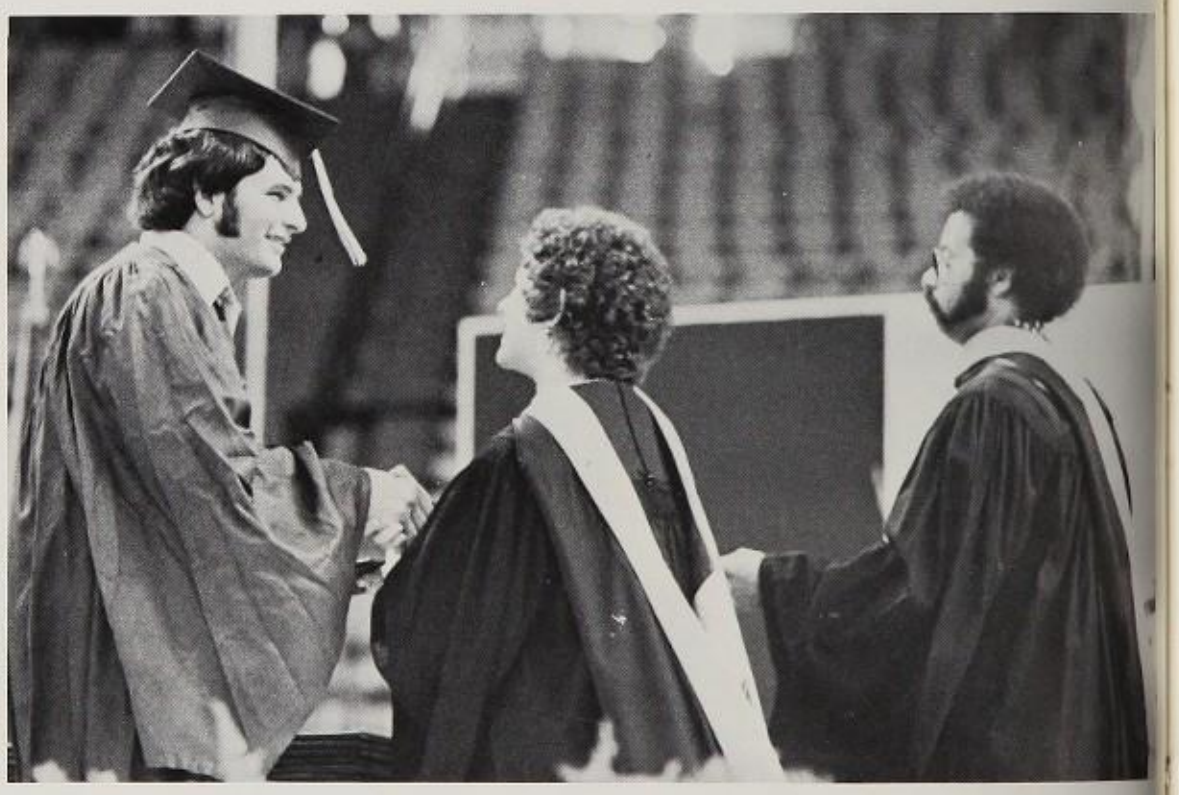
Friends and memorable moments will always follow you until the end.

A floor of anxious graduates awaits to receive the last of their high school achievement — the diploma.



Green and gold flow to fill up the Cole Field House.

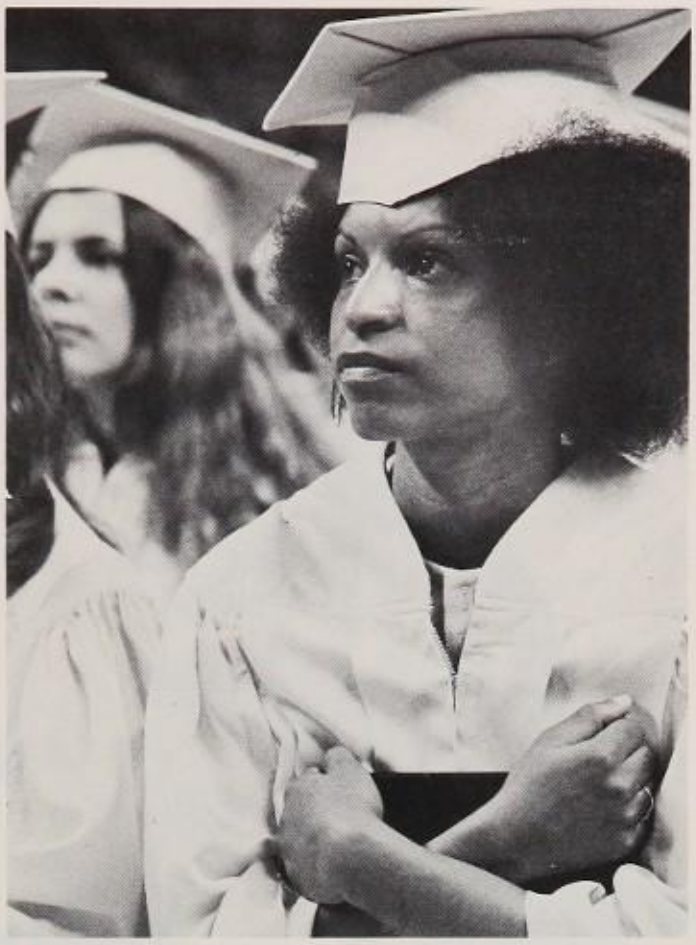
This is it . . . my diploma!!!



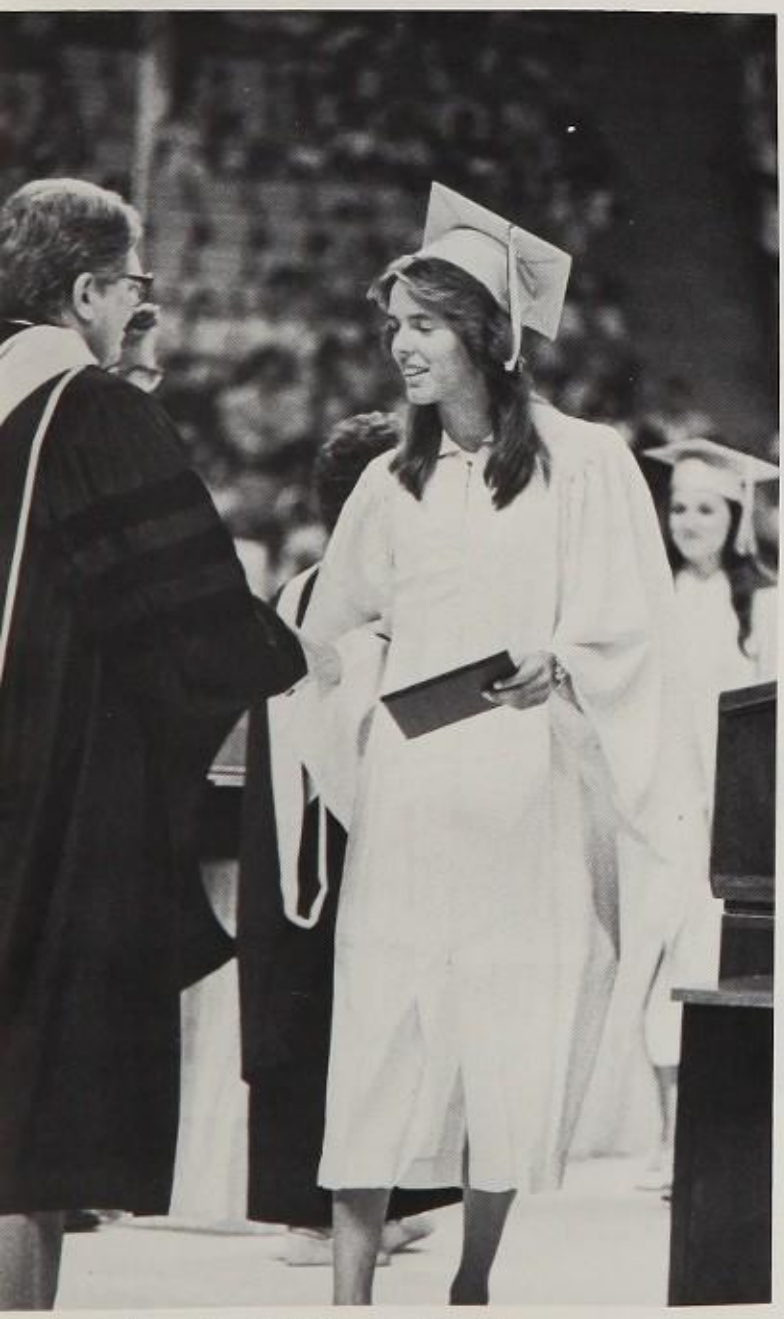
Dean Pantazes has finally made it!!!

A touch of seriousness overcomes the Seniors . . . for once.

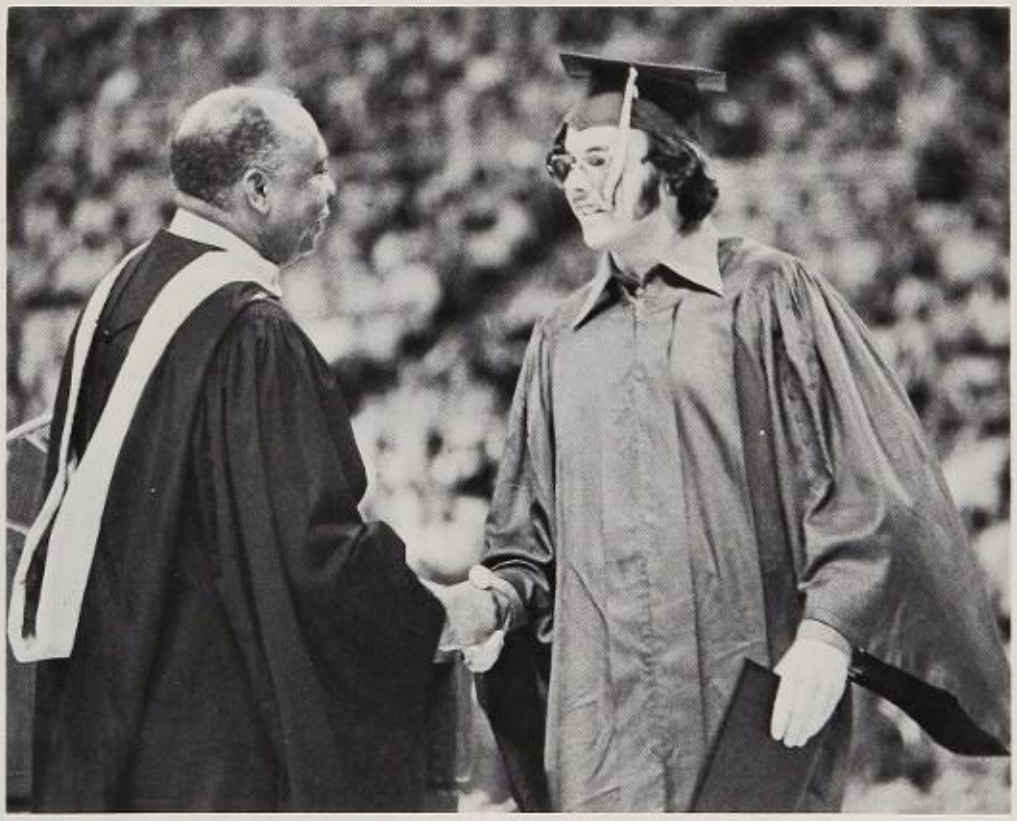
Oh, the perfectly straight lines that were made!



Reminiscing the years that have passed . . .



The first girl to receive felicitations was Tina Adams.



Mike Donohue gratefully accepts congratulations from Mr. Gholson.

ACADEMICS

EXPRESSION

Ann Lyons discovers her miraculous abilities with the paint brush.

In art class, it's "do your own thing."

An example of Gretchen Merkle's expressive and impressive artwork.

Oh boy! She'll never make up her mind of what she's going to create!

Easy does it with that rim!

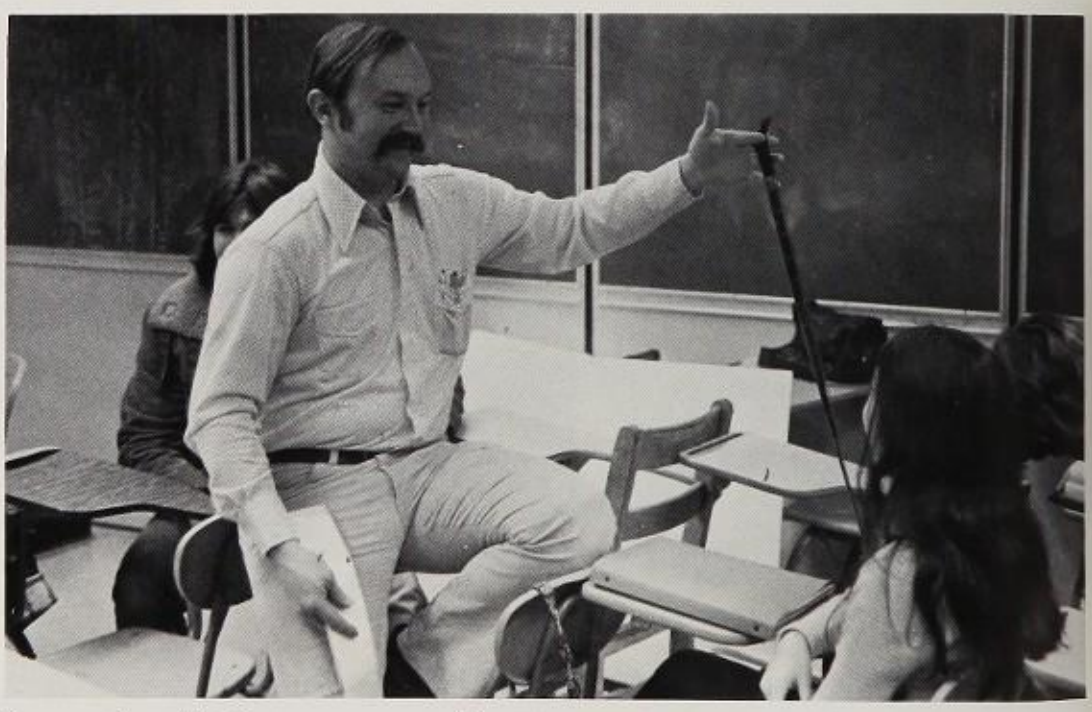
Now ladies, this will be a live demonstration of the newest masque for your faces.

Sketching is a favorite pastime for Micheal Hall.

Hold your chin up just a little bit higher. (Ed Henderson)

The expression in those eyes is the objective she's trying to catch. (Andrea Logan)

Home Ec. provides multitudes of ways to express one's creativeness.



Photography and Mr. Lentz — an unseparable pair.

This is serious business!

Creative writing serves as a path for hidden feelings. (Right, Edie?)

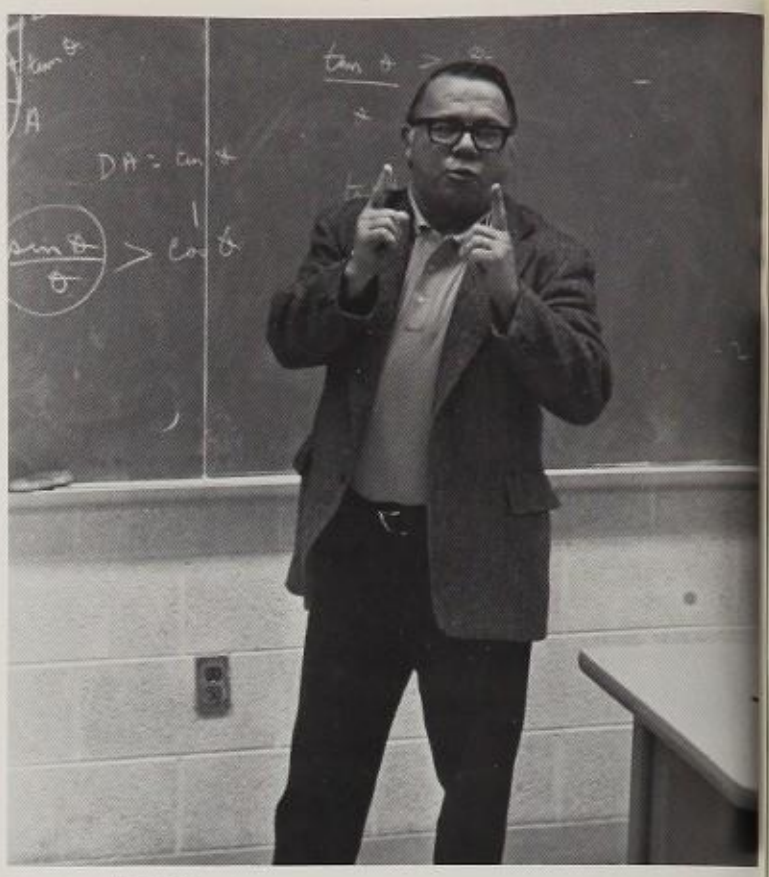
But I can't even boil water!

Advice is a facility not to be overlooked at any time.

Mary Monahan and the fascinating needle.

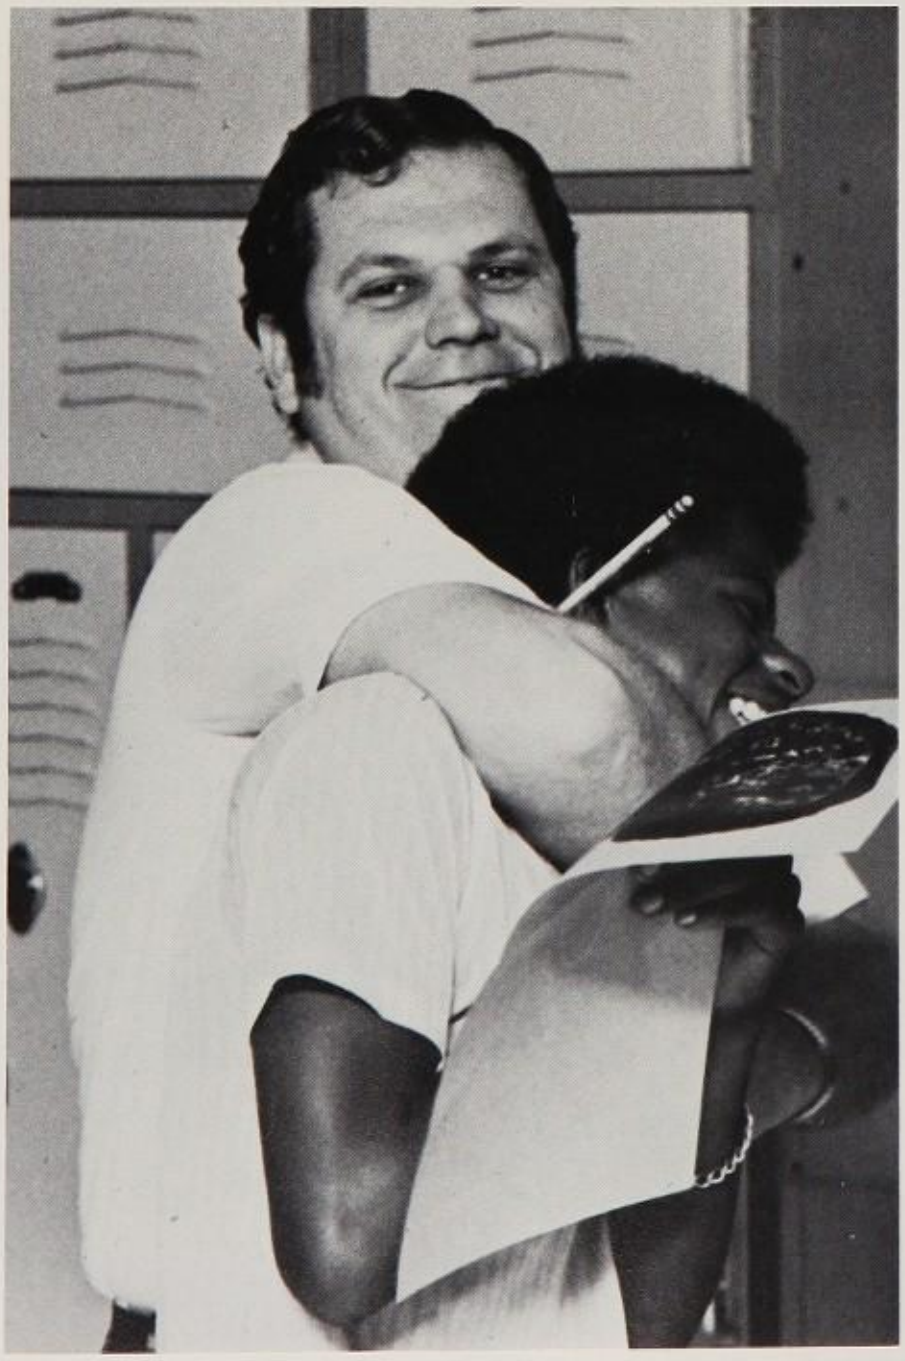
Crocheting is not the easiest thing to do, and Miss Rexon offers her talents.

MEMORY



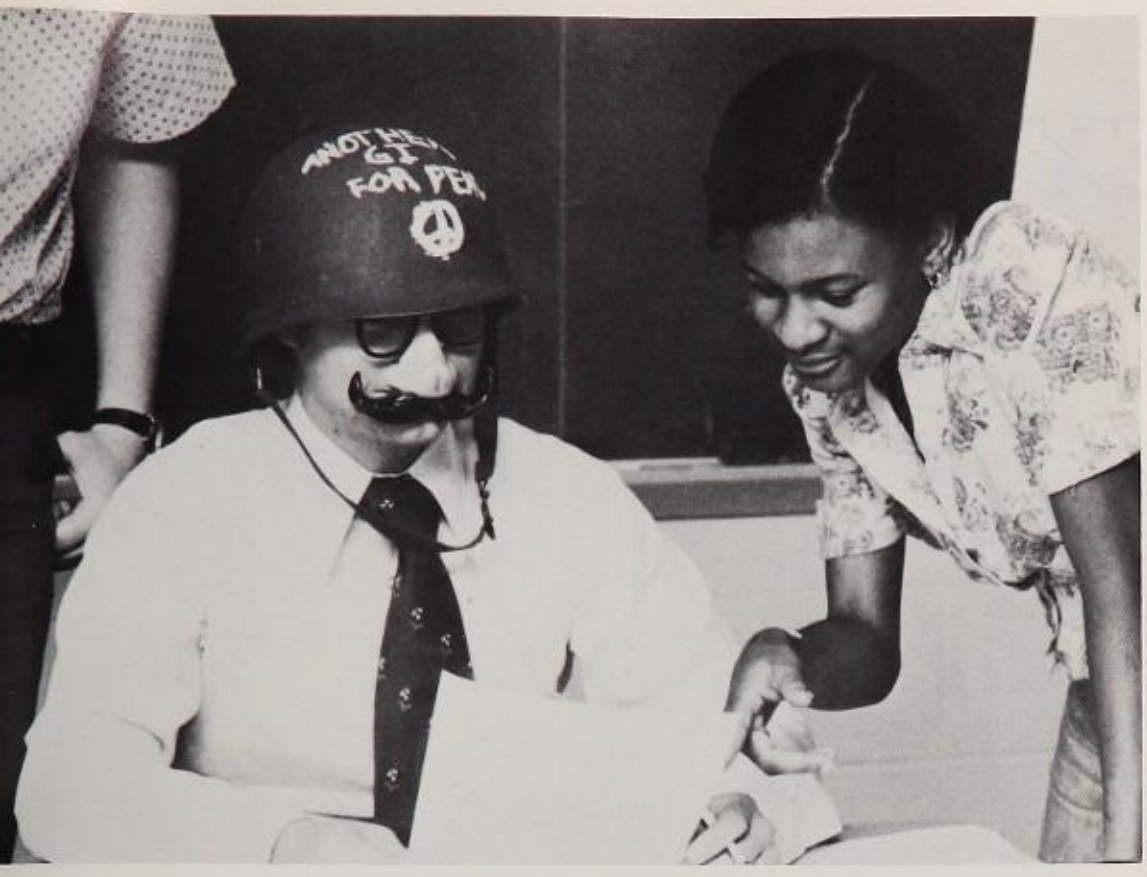
But it's only THIS long!

Mrs. McGhan and her notorious German classes.



This is what becomes of you if you don't do your homework for Mr. Croft!

Student aid is always offered by Mr. Henry.



There's no better way to teach Social Studies than with audio-visual aids.

Parlez-vous francais?

I wish I had a calculator to figure these numbers for me.

Dr. Fretz looks over papers to decide what grammer drill will be the next torture.

Sign language has rapidly developed as a course in which many students wish to participate.

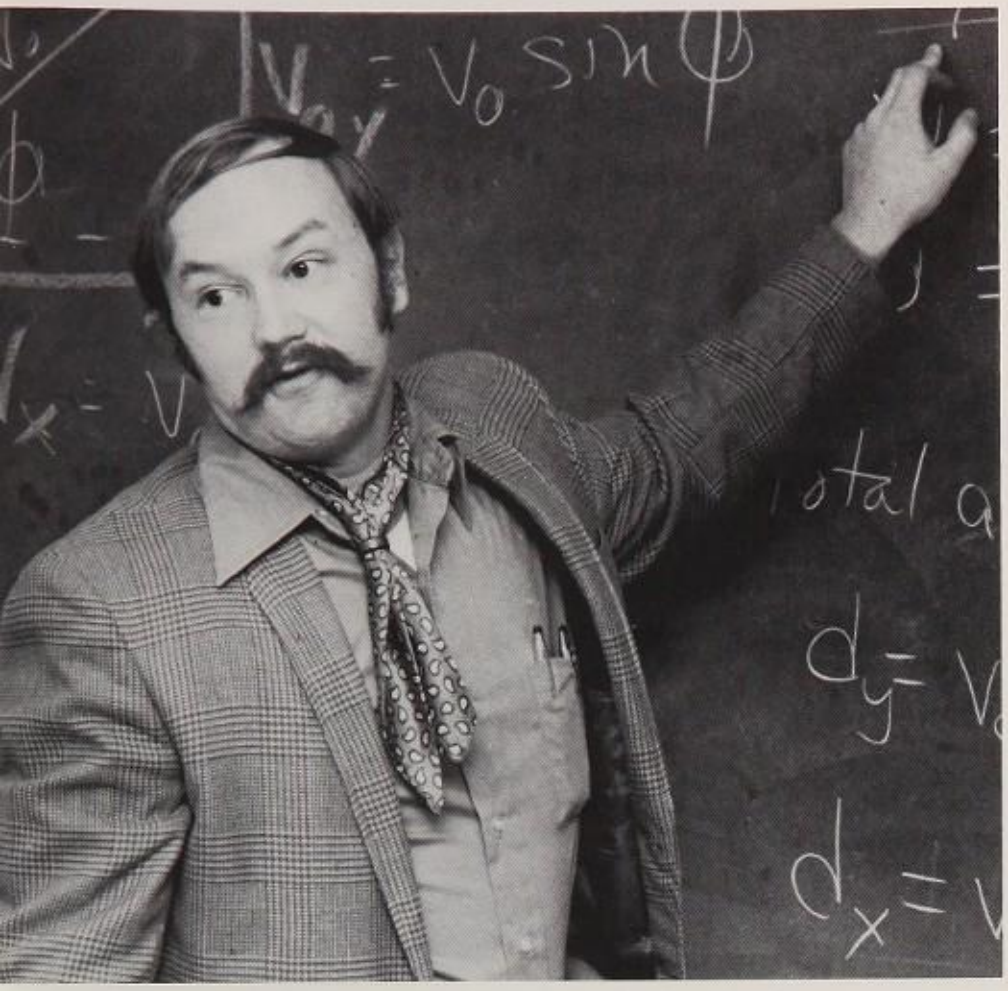
EXPERIMENTATION

O.K. frog, don't try anything funny! (Brenda Walley)

A familiar daily chemistry experiment.

Mission Impossible.

I have THAT many bones in my body?



. . . so if the air speed is 45 mph with a northeasterly head, and the angle of the velocity is . . . class??

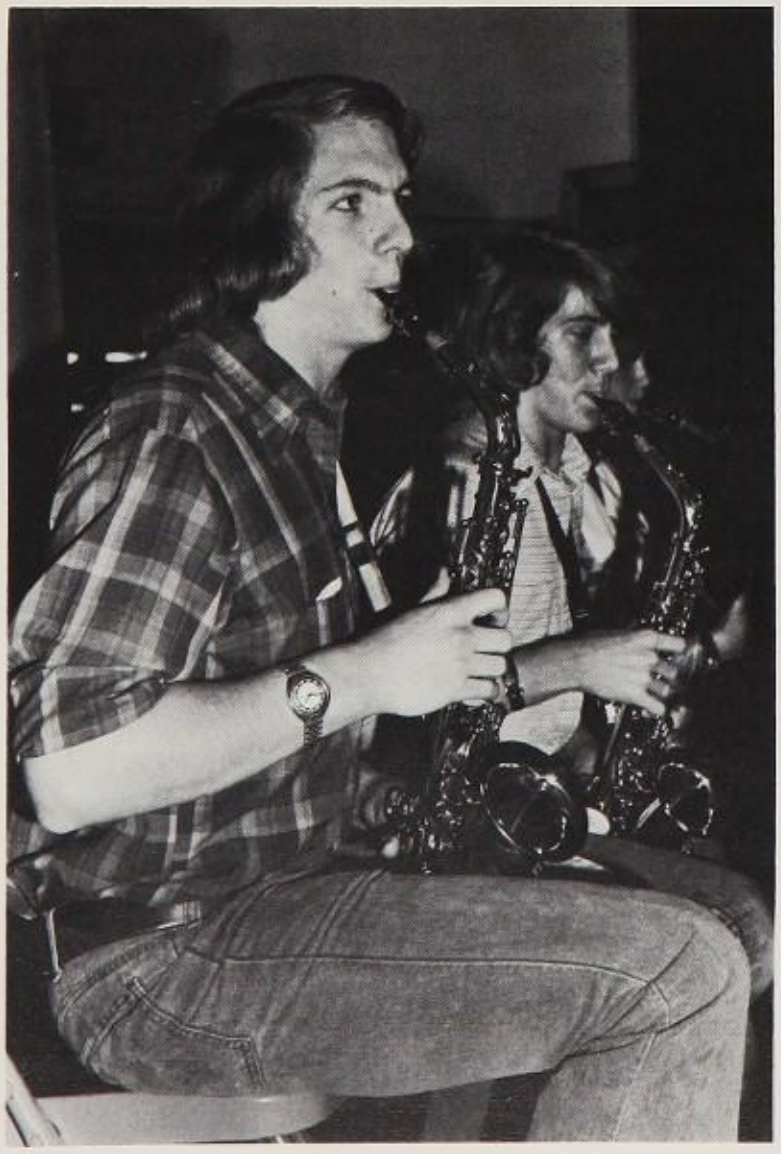
The Science Fair was a real charge for Bernard Penny.

It was a day for the fetal pig experiment, and the class decided to skip out on this one . . . well, at least some of them did.

Welcome to my station!

APPLICATION

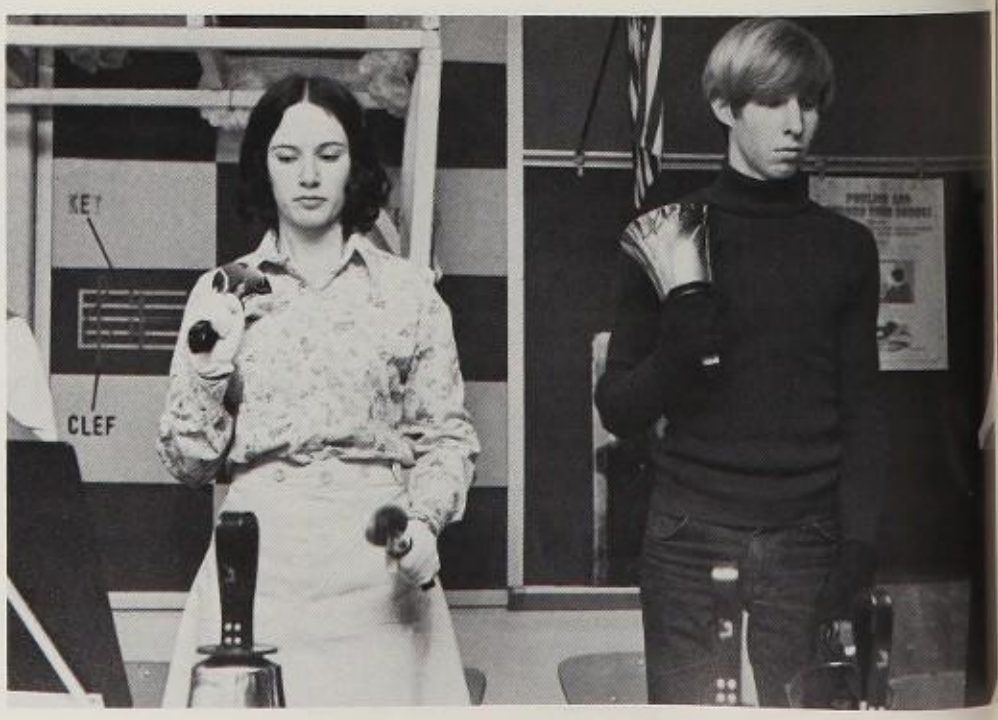
Jared Freeman and his spellbinding trumpet.



An extraordinary musician — David Morgan.

"No, I changed my mind. I want you to march through the pom-poms in the field."

You in the back . . . WAKE UP!



Practice, practice, and more practice are the code words for the handbell ringers.

I know, I've never seen this piece of music before . . . and the concert is TOMORROW?!?

There were just SO many people in the audience tonight!!!

Sweet and soft melodies from the Choralettes.

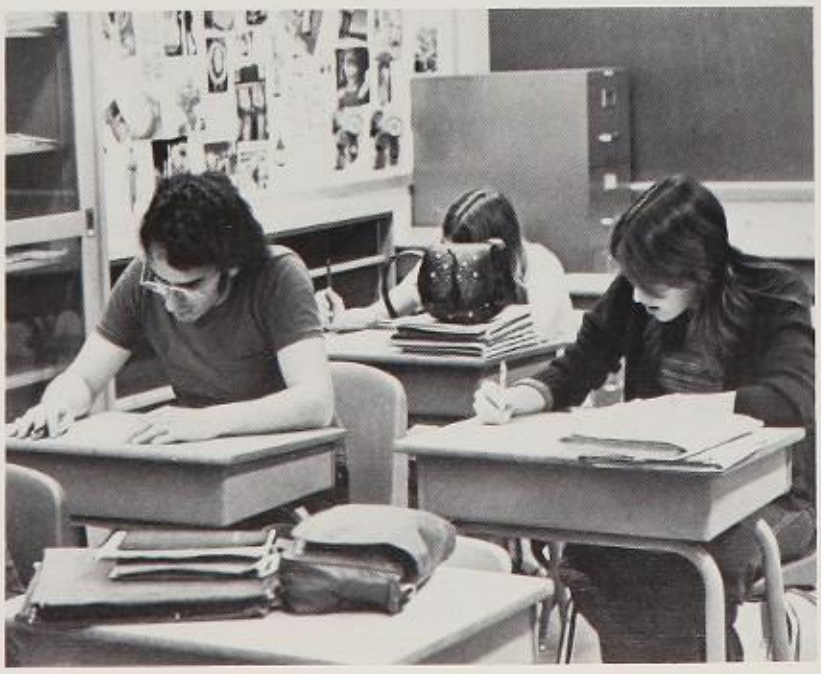
Filing in, ready for the worst . . .

It's more fun driving with your eyes closed, don't you think?

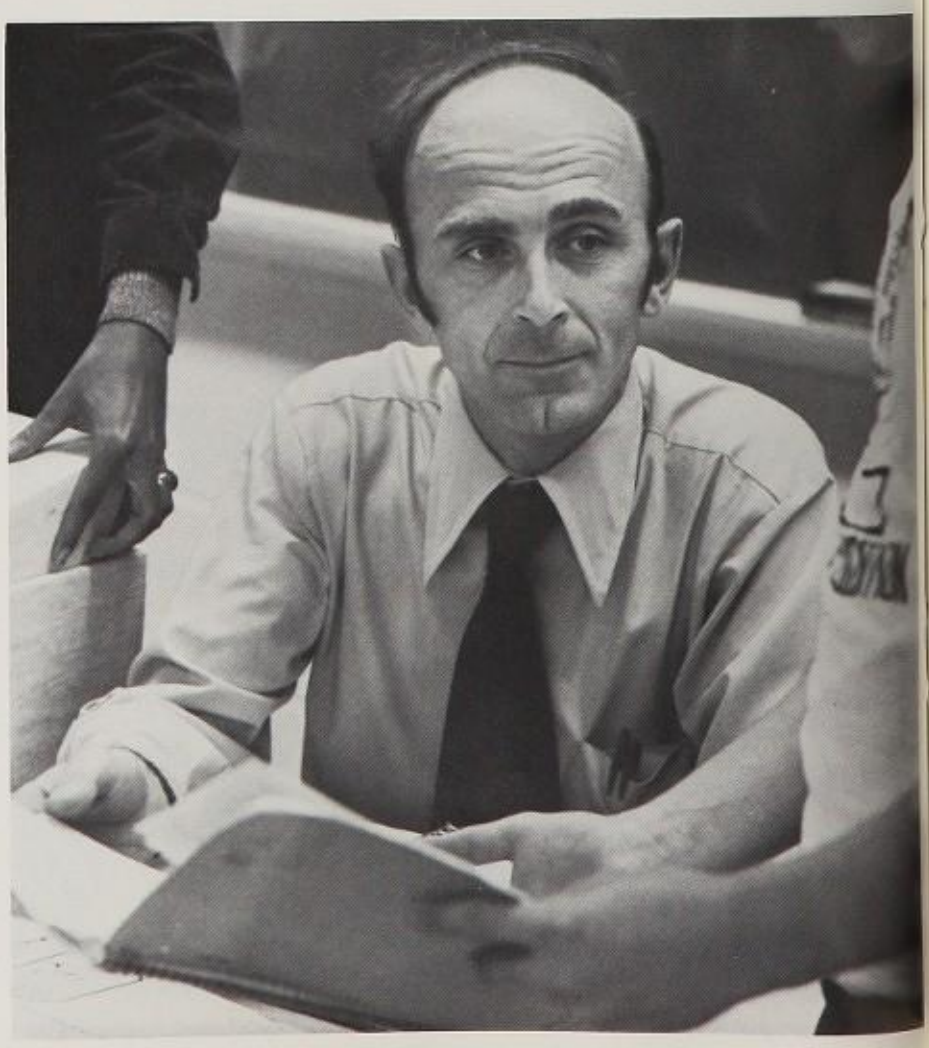
TRAINING

Class — I have the pleasure to announce to you that there hasn't been a class with a higher accident rate.

Yes, salami is the cheapest buy, so let's go out and make sure we don't run out.



Hey! How did you get the answer to #5?



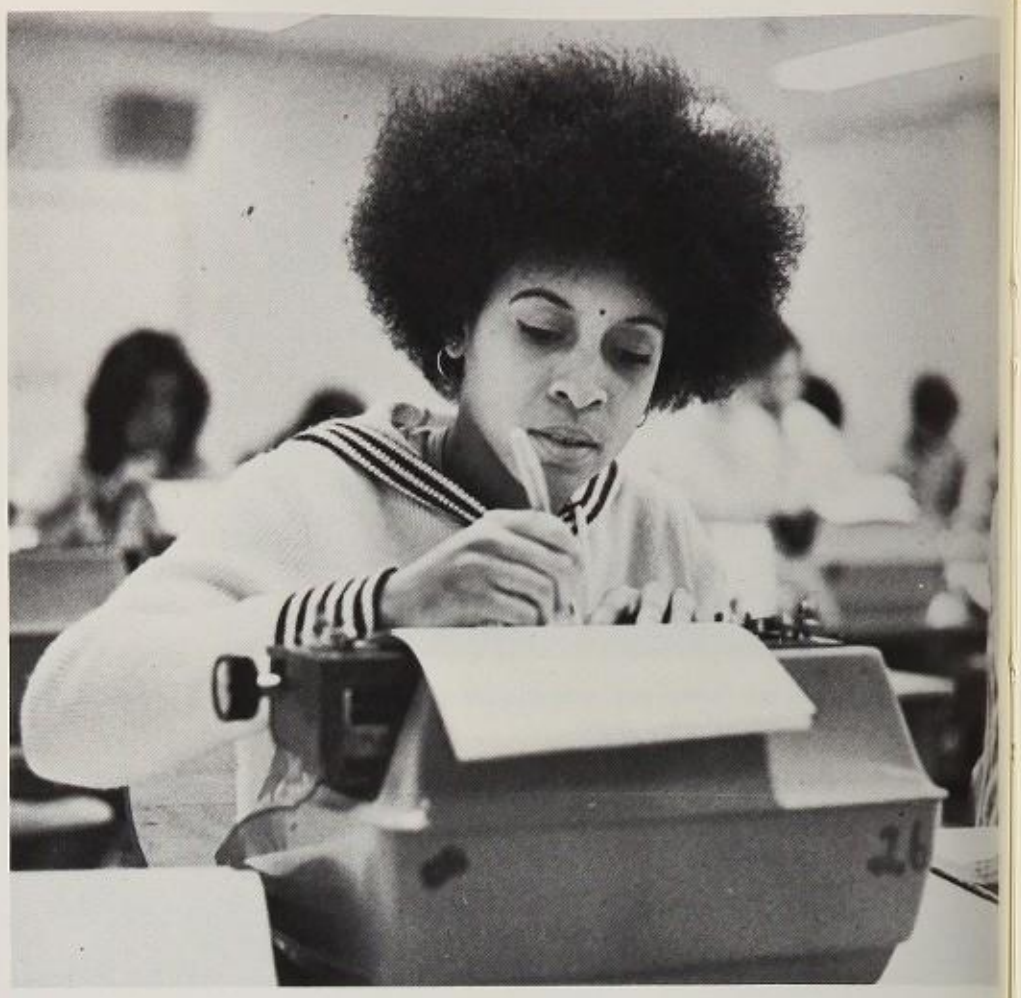
It's still early in the morning for Mr. Antonelli.

Tell me, what do you think of the draft?

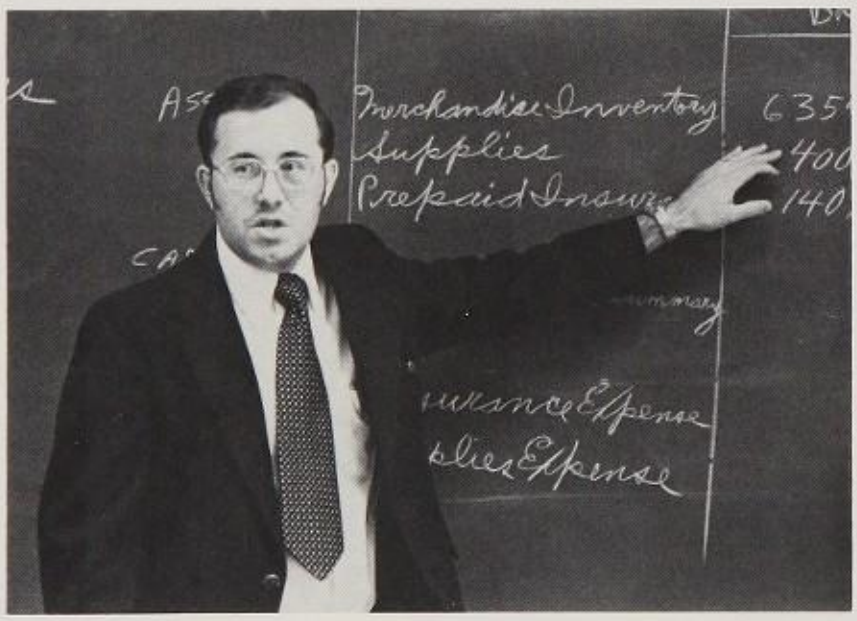
Play school lets the love flow from everyone.

Plenty of laughter and bliss follow along with the beneficial experiences that are involved with the Play school program.

Awww . . . look at that puppy dog!



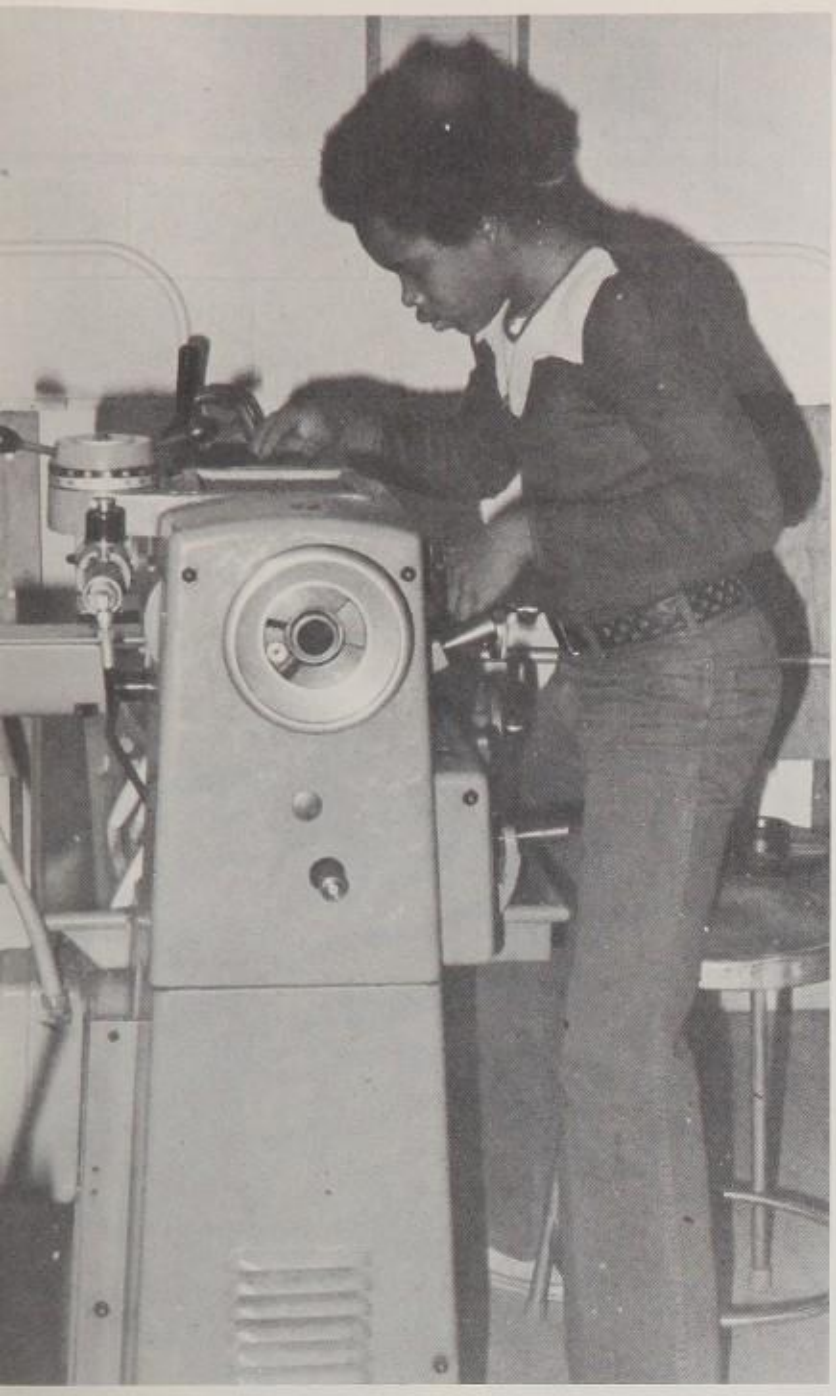
I'm going to erase this machine if it doesn't stop making mistakes!



I would much prefer if this class figured out my income taxes instead.

Business Ed. includes a tenacious enthusiast, Mrs. Bowman.

Mr. Calhoun.



Metal shop.

Wood shop.

Even a straight edge can't help me draw a straight line!

The joy of destruction.

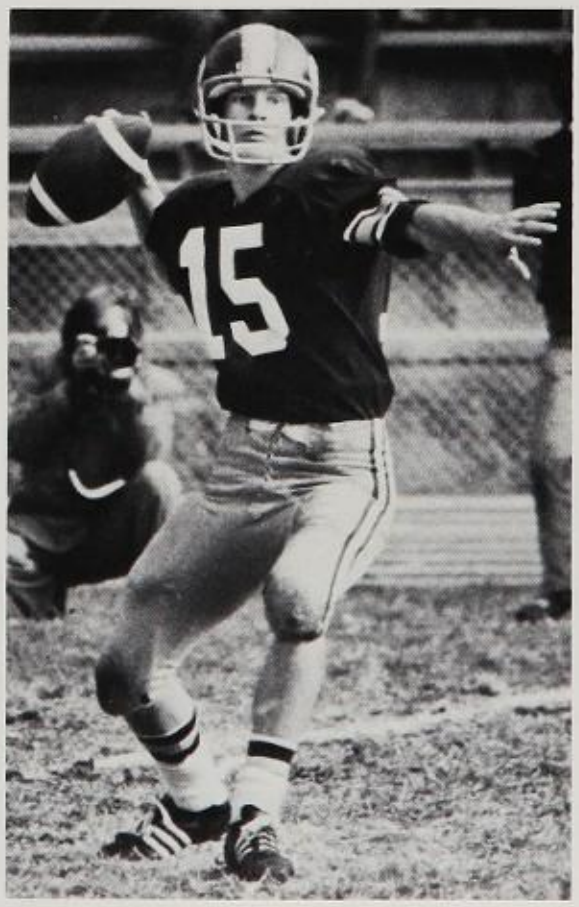
Ron Evans bursts through the middle for yardage against Northwestern.

The Parkdale Varsity Football team had a truly successful season this year. The team finished with a 10-2 record, and 7-1 in the league. Above all, the team beat Perry Hall of Baltimore, 28-7, to win the first Maryland AA State Championship. The team was definitely considered to be of little threat in the beginning, but with each victory in the course of the season, support grew and the team climaxed their season with the win over Perry Hall. One lesson learned this year by opponents is that the Parkdale Panthers meant business this year.

The Green Machine enters the gridiron in pursuit of another victory.

Paso Gross breaks through the offensive line in pursuit of the passer.

Parkdale's one-two punch, Poochie Brent and Ron Evans.

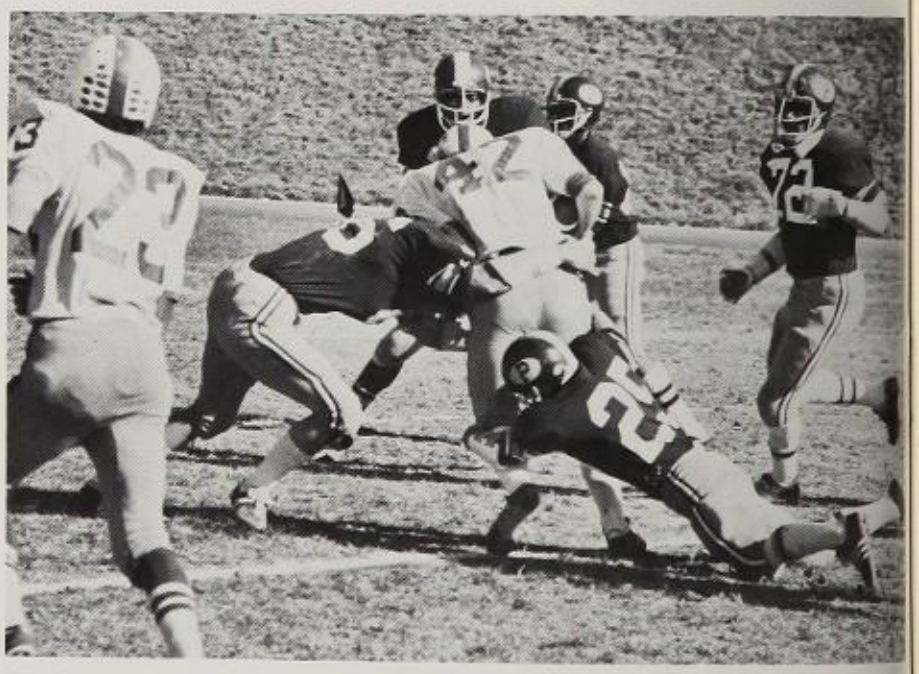


Panther Quarterback Bob Brooks rears back for a long toss.

An all-around coach is a big asset to Parkdale's team, as Mike Smith well knows.

Tim Trott butters the breadbasket against a High Point opponent for a loss.

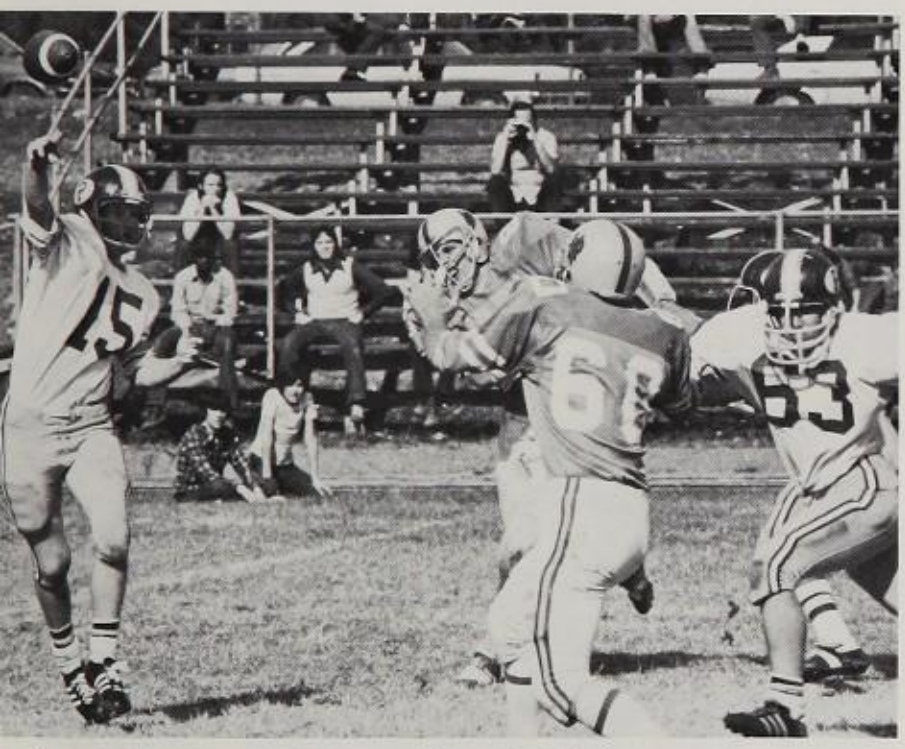
The men behind the defense, coaches Arbutina and Matters.



The Panther defense leaves no running back unturned.

Whenever yardage was needed, the call went to Ron Evans, with Poochie Brent running the interference.

Head coach Tom Rae, the story behind the Panthers.



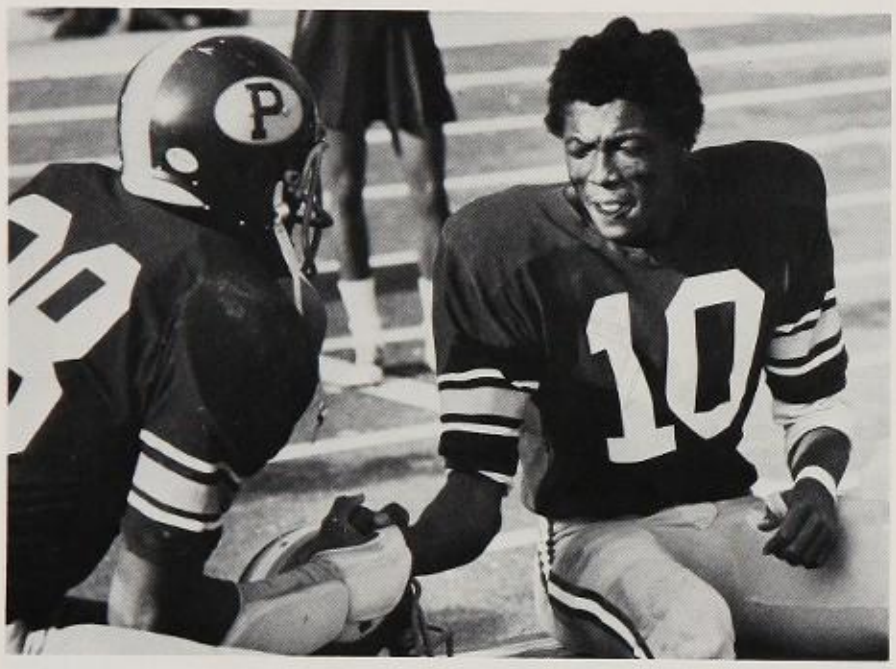
Bob Brooks heaves one as Tim Ring cuts down the defense.

The brief moment of daylight for this runner will soon end in darkness.

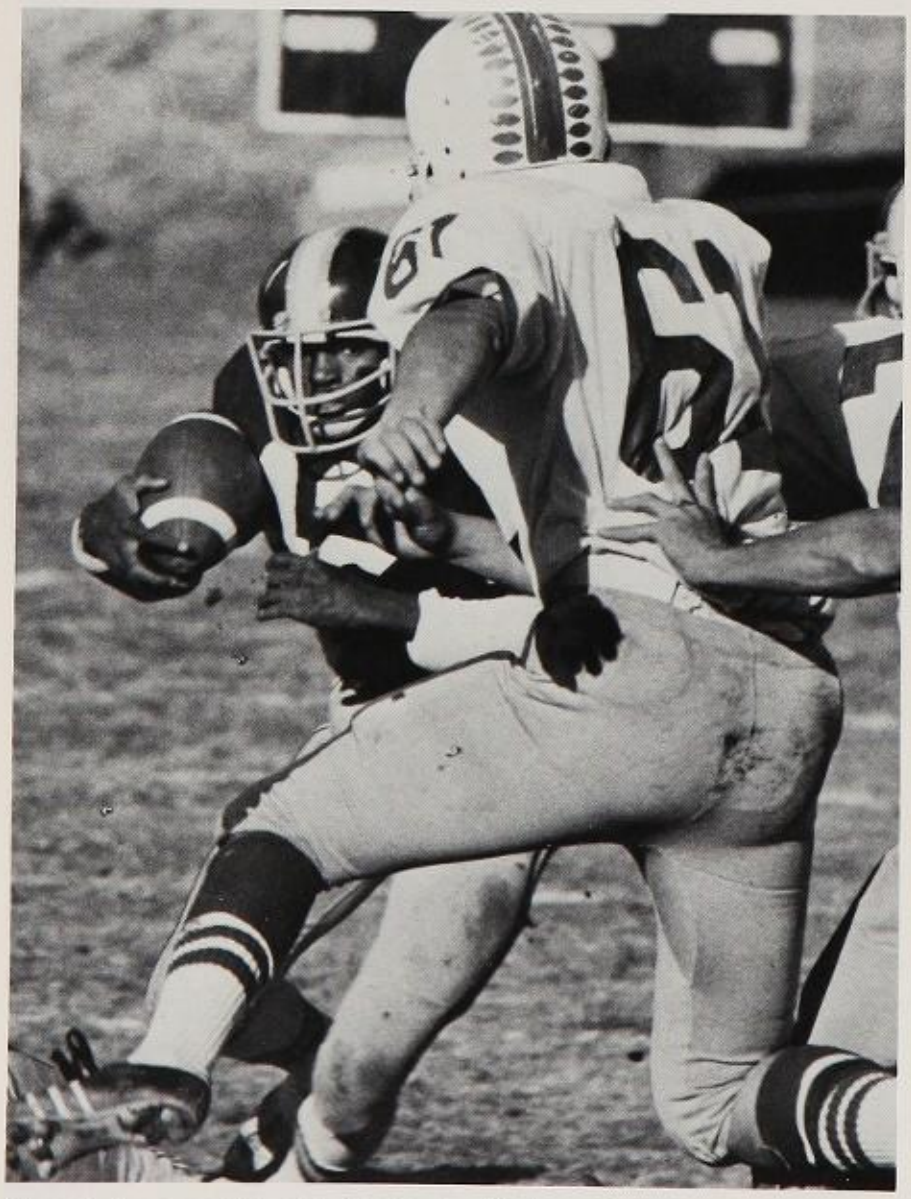
John Hisamoto can't seem to distinguish wrestling from football as he takes a High Point runner to the turf.

All-County defensive lineman Greg Marquardt toys with the High Point quarterback.

MARYLAND AA DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP



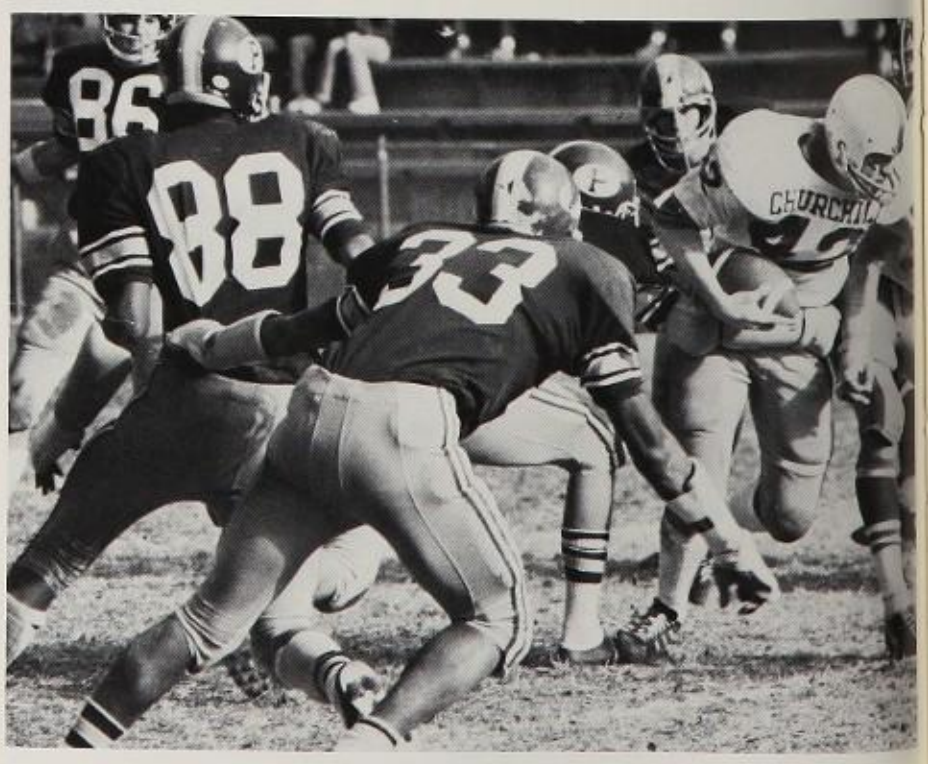
Jeff Shangler accepts congratulations from Dino Pierce after his two scores.



Where holes appear intangible, Poochie Brent finds running room.

Tim Trott shows his jubilation after a brilliant touchdown catch.

Bill Contarino pounces on one of his two fumble recoveries which turned the tide.



This wasn't Churchill's finest hour as the Parkdale's J. C. Hightower and Dino Pierce close in.

MARYLAND AA STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

A determination such as this was a leading factor in the Panther's success.

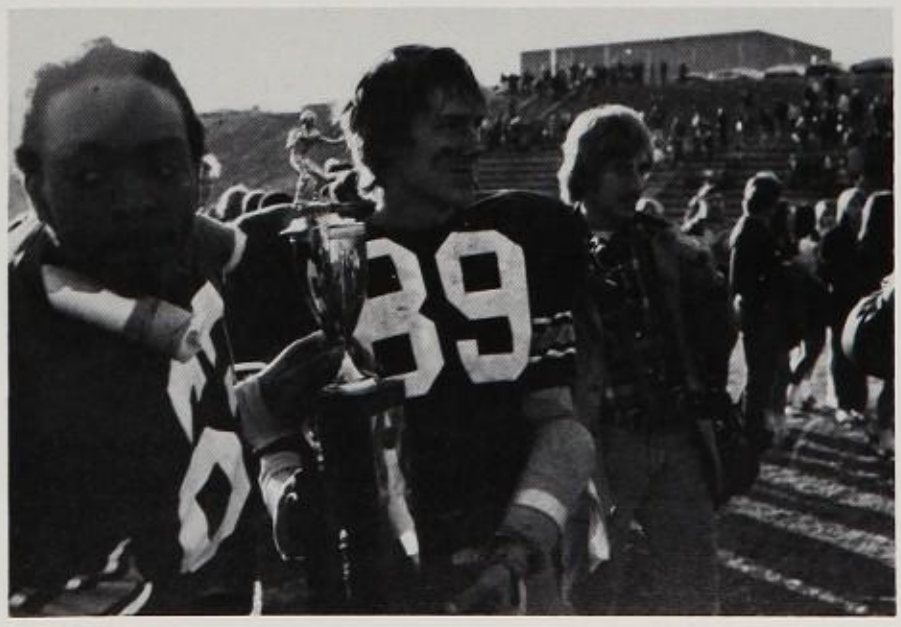
The Parkdale line charges out with a ferocity which definately characterizes panthers.

Typical Panther defense like this made the outcome more than probable.

Three points are eliminated as Dino Pierce deflects another attempt.

Evans opens a hole for Brent to find some running room.

A Rae of light shines from above as the presentation is made honoring Parkdale as #1.



Team captain Joe Taylor accepts the trophy as Sylvester Vaughn has a hand in things.

Greg Capotosto looks extremely hungry as Dawn Penniman tries to convince him that he CAN'T have her sandwich.

Catching up on last night's homework, Karen Opsahl finds the hall a convenient place to study.

During typing class, Barbara Gregory tires to explain that she REALLY can type 75 w.p.m. without ANY mistakes . . .
